'LIBERTY' IS OVER OCEAN

Photographer and Pilot Take Off Early Today For Copenhagen, Denmark.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 24.—Otto Hillig, 54-year-old flying photographer of Liberty, N. Y., and his twenty-five-year-old pilot, Holger Holtriss, hopped off in their monoplane "Liberty" from the local airport for Copenhagen, Denmark, today at 5:54 a. m. (New England Daylight Saving Time). Flying easily with a heavy load from the ground, the "Liberty" started out on the great circle swing across the Atlantic in the path of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who had left Harbor Grace fifteen hours before in the white-winged monoplane, Winnie Mae. Holtriss will steer his course south of that followed by the Oklahoma ace. Before their flight Hillig described their daring voyage as that of "a couple of immigrants returning home." Hillig came to America from Germany forty years ago, while Holtriss left Denmark as an immigrant only seven years ago. The "Liberty" left port with 600 gallons of gas, sufficient for thirty-five hours of flying. The airman expected to reach Copenhagen in 28 hours without stopping. Their course led across Ireland, England and Holland.

Before their departure, Hillig received favorable weather reports. Holtriss was in high spirits before the take-off, but his older companion complained of a stiff back and muscles due to a strain suffered a few weeks ago. The flyers went to bed at seven o'clock last night, asking to be called at two a. m. They arose at three o'clock, ate breakfast and made leisurely preparations for the hop. Meanwhile their mechanic Moffatt went to the airport and made a thorough examination of the "Liberty's" engine.

FOSTER INDICTED

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—Accused of violating the state blue sky law, Hugh M. Foster, a former candidate for the state legislature, today was to be arraigned here as a result of alleged activities in selling stock in the West Jefferson dog track, which recently was closed by authorities. Authorities believed purchasers of securities lost heavily in the up-and-down career of the dog track, they said. Edward Dwyer and Andrew Reed, salesmen associated with Foster, were indicted yesterday on the same charge. In Foster's campaign last fall when he sought a seat in the legislature, he urged voters to insist that changes be made in the blue sky law which he now accused of having violated.

THANKS FOR THE DRINKS

Through the courtesy of Frank A. Lynch, proprietor of the Circleville Bottling Works employees of The Herald office went to ice-cold bottles of Coca Cola Tuesday afternoon. Many thanks, Frank, they certainly were refreshing.

Speed of Veteran Aviator Over Ocean is 150 Miles Per Hour

IRELAND IS CROSSED Follow Strict Time Table Is Tour Plan

(BULLETIN)
HANOVER, Germany, June 24.—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, American round-the-world flyers, landed their "Winnie Mae" plane here at 6:45 p. m., today en route from Sealand aerodrome, England to Berlin. They remained on the ground only ten minutes hopping off again for Berlin at 6:55 p. m. (12:55 p. m. Eastern Standard Time).

SEALAND AERODROME, CHESTER, England, June 24.—Blazing a round-the-world route through the skies, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, veteran American aviators, successfully completed their trans-Atlantic flight from Harbor Grace, N. F., with a landing on the Sealand aerodrome today, and took off one hour and fifteen minutes later for Berlin, first main stop on their globe-girdling journey. After covering the 2,400 miles from Harbor Grace, in sixteen hours and 33 minutes at the amazing speed of 150 miles an hour, Post and Gatty landed their power-plant plane at the airport at 1 p. m. (2:55 p. m. Eastern Standard Time).

TAKE OFF AGAIN
At 2:15 p. m., 8:15 a. m., E. S. T., only a few seconds after word of their safe landing had been flashed to the world, the aviators took their plane aloft again, determined to reach the German capital in as close as possible to the twenty hours they had allotted themselves for the journey. Although a surprise, the landing in England was not entirely unexpected, as Post and Gatty indicated before their departure they would be guided largely by wind and weather conditions after the ocean had been successfully spanned.

The non-stop flight to Berlin had been arranged merely for the purpose of setting a strict time-table, but the aviators knew when they started out that variable conditions might enforce certain last-minute changes in their schedule. News of the landing and subsequent departure came on the heels of one another, and by the time newspapermen and photographers had been dispatched to the landing field from London and Liverpool, Post and Gatty had already bid farewell to England and were on their way to Germany.

The brief stop-over indicated the aviators found their plane in perfect condition after the grueling flight across the Atlantic. It was considered likely the halt was made either so that the flyers could get their bearings or else make a careful inspection of their fuel and oil supply before striking over the European continent to Berlin.

REAL NAVIGATION

The trans-Atlantic flight represented a triumph of navigation. The plane was first sighted at Bangor, North Wales, lying on almost the same parallel of latitude as Harbor Grace. Gatty, whose knowledge of aerial navigation is such that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh engaged him to teach Mrs. Lindbergh the art, apparently struck a bee-line over the great circle course to reach his destination.

Sweeping in from the sea, the aviators apparently flew straight across the middle of Ireland, but they were not sighted until they circled over Hangor twice, seeking their bearings.

'LOS ANGELES' IS SLIGHTLY BURNED

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The naval dirigible "Los Angeles" was damaged slightly by fire in its hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., this morning according to a message received at the navy department from Captain A. H. Dresel, the ship's commander. The outer covering was damaged but the ship will be ready to fly again in a few days, Dresel said. The cause was uncertain he reported but presumably due to a short circuit in the new electrical equipment that is being installed.

Hoosier Peach

Maybe you didn't know they grew wonderful peaches in Indiana, but here's one that should leave no doubt in your mind. She's Mary Sargent and is one of six beauties selected by Flo Ziegfeld as the prettiest at De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind. When the school couldn't decide which of 12 candidates for pulchritude honors was the prettiest, Flo helped to the extent of reducing the field to six. Personally, we vote for Mary.

CONNAR'S PLAN IS IMPORTANT

Recommends Survey of All Ohio Streams For Slack-Water Improvement.

Circleville and Pickaway-co will be vitally affected if a recommendation made Tuesday by A. T. Connar, director of the Ohio Public Works department, is adopted. Connar has suggested that a survey be made of all the streams in Ohio, including the Scioto river which offer the most practical route for slack-water improvement between Lake Erie and the Ohio river.

He also made the suggestion that the legislature give the state and also the cities and counties, the authority to acquire strips of land at least 200 feet wide on each side of the stream. "Surplus water could flow over these strips and low levees could be built along their outer margins to restrain flood waters," he said. "Even though the improvements were not made for years the land could be obtained cheaper now and could be used as part of the state's public park system in the meanwhile."

Connar said the surveys might be extended over a period of years and might result in an "accumulation of vast data that sooner or later would be available whenever flood protection, transportation, water supply, sanitation and conservation of water resources of the state are up for solution." At the present time workmen from the Curtis Inc., of Cleveland, are studying the Scioto river west of town for the proposed canal site from Columbus to Portsmouth, which is being supported by the Ohio Waterways Association, of which a number of local men are members.

RUTH NICHOLS TO TRY IN SEPTEMBER

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 24.—Undaunted by the crash which wrecked her plane here Monday evening, Ruth Nichols, champion woman flyer, declared today she would attempt a solo flight from New York to Paris in September. The Rye, N. Y., aviatrix will be required to remain in the hospital here for several more days. She fractured two vertebrae, but the affected part is well removed for the spinal cord. When the swelling subsides, a plaster cast will be placed about the injury and Miss Nichols will go home for a long rest.

GAS MASKS HELP

Gas masks obtained a month ago for the Lancaster city fire department were used for the first time Wednesday night when the fireman answered a call at the railroad station in that city where some kegs of hydrofluoric acid had fallen over in a freight car, the leaking fluid emanating poisonous fumes that prevented any of the railroad workmen from entering the car. The firemen adjusted their masks and soon extinguished the kegs. Fire Chief Palmer Wise of the local department has asked council to purchase such masks for the local engine house.

CONDITION OF FRENCH PLAN UNFAVORABLE

Complete Cessation of Debt Payment for Year to Be Denied

HOOVER DISPLEASED

Plan Would Be 75 Percent Effective

WASHINGTON, June 24.—France's apparent decision to accept President Hoover's moratorium proposal only by imposing conditions which severely limit the scope of the plan deeply disappointed Washington today. Advice from Paris were that the French will reject that part of the Hoover suggestion which contemplated complete cessation of all inter-governmental war debts for one year, and insist that Germany still pay into the bank for international settlements the "non-postponable" part of her annual reparations, amounting to $110,000,000.

DECISION REACHED

The decision of the French apparently has been reached in the face of information that such a reply is unsatisfactory to the United States. Ambassador Edge, in his conferences with Premier Laval, is understood to have acquainted him with Washington's objections to such a counter-proposal, and Ambassador Claudel here has also kept his government informed of this government's aversion to it. Nevertheless, all information reaching here from Paris, both public and private, indicates the French are going ahead, despite American objections.

The practical effect of the French condition, it was pointed out here, would be to make President Hoover's plan, as applied to Germany, only about 75 per cent effective, whereas his proposal was a one hundred per cent suspension of all war-time obligations. The attitude of this government in the matter thus becomes a matter of deepest concern.

WONT BARGAIN

Both President Hoover and Secretary Stimson have indicated that the American government did not wish to "bargain" or "trade" in the matter. But if the French reply, expected tonight or early tomorrow, bears out all the advance notices from Paris, they will be confronted with doing just that—bargaining. The only alternative would be to abandon the whole thing, which is almost inconceivable, for after the world's hopes had been raised so high an abandonment would be calculated to have a devastating effect throughout Europe. It might plunge Germany into the very chaos from which President Hoover sought to save her by his original proposal.

The fact that France would agree not to draw upon the German annuity in the international settlements bank does not, in the opinion of officials here, materially alter the situation. Germany still has to raise the money, and the fact she might be able to draw on it herself, through short term credit, does not mitigate the burden of having to raise it. President Hoover's original objective was to relieve Germany of all burdens in connection with war debts for one year.

ROTARY TO MEET THURSDAY 6:30

Members of the Rotary Club will meet at the Pickaway Country Club, Thursday, at 6:30 p. m., in their regular meeting, at which time the installation of officers will take place. A number of members plan to enjoy golf in the afternoon.

3 BANKS CLOSED

LIMA, O., June 24.—Three banks controlled by N. W. Cunningham of Bluffton, near here, were taken over for liquidation today by State Banking Superintendent Ira J. Fulton. The institutions taken over were: The Commercial Bank & Savings Co. at Bluffton, Capital stock $60,000, surplus $19,000, total assets $1,400,000. The Commercial Savings Bank Co., at Rawson, in Hancock Co., Capital stock $25,000, total assets $215,000. The LaFayette Bank at Lafayette in Allen Co., a private bank, Capital stock $10,000, total assets $125,000.

Interest High In "Just Kids" Theatre Party

"Have you your Just Kids Button?" is the question that the members of the Just Kids Safety Club are asking all their friends. And why not? It is the admission ticket to the big Theatre Party at the Grand Saturday morning. Mr. Baughman, through special arrangement has secured "Headin' North," featuring Bob Steele and every boy and girl in Pickaway-co picks him as their favorite. After the show and when the boys and girls are getting a bit hungry and thirsty, Frank A. Lynch of the Circleville Bottling Works is going to treat every one who attends the party with an individual piece of Furnas Ice Cream.

It's going to be a big party and the hundreds of present members are telling all their friends to "Join now!" and get their button so they can all go to the Grand Saturday morning. But they also tell them to remember to "Look Up and Down" before crossing the street for they can't afford to get hurt and miss seeing this picture and eating Ice Cream after the party.

PETTIT JURORS ARE SUMMONED

Case of Fred and Josie Drum Against Grices Begins Thursday at 9 A. M.

Pettit jurors are to report at the Circuit Court of Courts Fred M. Pettit at 9 a. m. Thursday in the case of Fred and Josie Drum against Howard N. and Verna E. Grice, in which the plaintiff will attempt to recover possession of personal property.

Fred P. Griner is attorney for the plaintiff and Frank Redfern of Adelphi represents the defendants.

COLLETT TRIAL

The trial of Newton Collett, who resides on the Benjamin Yates farm in Deer Creek-twp., and who pleaded not guilty to a charge of possession of implements designed to manufacture intoxicating liquors, was underway in probate court Thursday, before Judge E. A. Brown.

Among the witnesses called in the case were George Bayham and Michael Poyms of the state prohibition department, Deputy Sheriff Bryan Custer, Bob Armstrong and Miller Fissell, and Peck Walston of Deer Creek-twp. Prosecutor E. L. Crist represents the state and Abernethy and Simkins are Collett's attorneys.

DENNIS ESTATE

O. E. Martin of Groveport, R. F. D., has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late John W. Dennis, of Commercial Point in probate court. The estate is estimated to be worth $450. Elizabeth M. Martin has been named administratrix of the estate of the late Mary I. Dennis also of Commercial Point. Her estate is estimated to be worth $650. Samuel Davis, Harry Trego and W. E. Lamb are appraisers.

DOOLITTLE SAVES SELF WITH 'CHUTE

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL., June 24.—Maj. James H. "Jimmy" Doolittle, famed flyer, by quick action today had saved himself with a parachute jump when wing fabric of a plane of his own design tore loose while he was doing 235 miles an hour.

Doolittle noticed the wing tear at an altitude of 100 feet and immediately nosed his plane upward so he would make the leap safely. He left the ship at an altitude of 400 feet, about the minimum at which an aviator can jump with safety. He said the wings were from an old plane and evidently unable to stand the strain.

WEDDING GUEST TRAIN VICTIM

HAMILTON, O., June 24.—Mrs. C. B. Becker, 39, was almost instantly killed today while on her way to attend the wedding of a friend when the automobile she was driving was struck by a fast passenger train seven miles north of here.

LORINE E. LUTZ PASSES AWAY IN FT. WAYNE

Native of This City is Victim of Complications Late Tuesday

LEAVES 4 CHILDREN

Body to Be Returned Here For Services

Lorin Earl Lutz, aged 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Lutz, 353 E. Main-st., succumbed in St. Joe's hospital, Fort Wayne, Ind., just before midnight Tuesday. A complication of diseases took the life of this well known and popular young man. He suffered from pleurisy and only a week ago underwent an operation for appendicitis. Since undergoing the operation his condition had been very critical, and Tuesday it was reported his chance to recover was only slight.

GRADUATED AT O. S. U.

He was a native of this city, born July 31, 1903, the only son of Earl W. and Ethel B. Morris Lutz. He attended the common schools in this city and graduated from Circleville high school in the class of 1920. After completing his common education he attended Washington & Jefferson University at Washington, Pa., and graduated from Ohio State University in 1925 from the school of chemical engineering. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and of Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity, an honorary chemistry organization. He was a member of the local Rotary club when he was transferred from this city over a year ago to Fort Wayne where he was employed by the Citizens Telephone Co., of which his father is local superintendent.

MARRIED IN 1921

On June 18, 1921, he was married to Marian Elizabeth Rowe, daughter of Mrs. W. C. Rowe, in Greenup, Ky. To this union were born four children, William, Marilyn, Emily and Evelyn, the last two being twins. Surviving are the wife and children, the parents and two sisters, Mrs. D. A. Yates, N. Scioto-st., and Miss Bernadine at home. Fred C. Clark of the Albaugh Co., left Wednesday morning for Fort Wayne to return the body to this city for burial, funeral arrangements having not yet been completed.

SHUTE WINS!

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—Here in the state where he holds an open championship, Deamore Shute, of Hudson, O., today whipped Frank Walsh of Chicago in a neck-and-neck match and hammered his way into position number ten on the American Ryder Golf team. Shute's victory concluded the battle for the two regular and alternate positions on the American team that started here Monday. Shute's brilliant climax gave him a par 72—a single stroke ahead of Walsh. Lumping along in third place came Henry Culci, of Stratford, Conn., who withdrew at the end of the sixteenth hole when he fell hopelessly behind.

MAN IS KILLED AS CARS ARE DERAILED

PENSACOLA, Fla., June 24.—One man was killed and two others injured when the locomotive of south bound Louisville & Nashville passenger train No. 3 plunged off the track and was overturned seven miles north of Pensacola today. The dead man, a tramp, riding between the engine tender and the baggage coach could not be immediately identified. The engineer received burns that doctors feared might prove fatal while the fireman was only slightly injured.

FORMER PREXY AT URBANA IS VICTIM

BALTIMORE, June 24.—Their automobile skidding off the Reisterstown road and upsetting near here during a downpour yesterday, Dr. Henry E. Schradieck, former president of Urbana College, Urbana, O., was so badly injured that he died last night at Union Memorial hospital.

CANDIDATE

Paul V. McNutt, former national commander of the American Legion, and who is an active candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Indiana, is expected to take a prominent part at a Democratic rally to be held at Madison, Ind., next Tuesday June 30. The rally is considered an antidote for recent meetings held by the anti-McNutt faction of the Democratic party.

STATE ROUTES TO BE MARKED

Highway No. 23 Included Among Those To Be Painted To Direct Aviators

State Route 23, which runs through this city, will be marked for the guidance of aviators; along with a number of other state highways which border the sky lanes and lead to cities where airport facilities may be found, according to plans advanced by Lieutenant Frank McKee, state director of aeronautics. Under the plan outlined, the name of the next city on the route where an adequate airport is located, an arrow indicating the compass direction and the number of miles to be flown will be marked on the highway. The plan varies from that in vogue in other states where route numbers are marked on the highways, thereby necessitating the carrying of road maps. Route 23 will be marked from Portsmouth to Toledo at Portsmouth, Chillicothe, Circleville, Columbus, Delaware, Marion, Upper Sandusky, Fostoria and Toledo.

Other routes to be marked are: U. S. Route 3, Cincinnati to Cleveland; U. S. Route 40, Wheeling to Vandalia; U. S. Route 25, Cincinnati to Toledo; U. S. Route 20, Cincinnati to Bryan, State Route 37, Columbus to Marietta; one from Cleveland to Bridgeport, and another taking the flyers around the northern, eastern rim of the state, from Cleveland to Youngstown, Bridgeport, Gallipolis, Portsmouth and Cincinnati.

IMPROVEMENT SITE VIEWED BY COUNCIL

A committee of the city council including W. F. Baker, T. M. Barnes and J. H. Helwage accompanied by Service Director L. E. Miller and Solicitor Paul Adkins, and City Engineer William Maloney, and Attorney Barton Walters, representing the Norfolk & Western Railroad went over proposed improvements in West-croft-ave and viewed the sites where several crossings are to be eliminated. Tuesday evening, with a view to work out the details of the improvement program which is proposed in a friendly suit filed in common pleas court by the railroad.

MANY TO WATCH MOON THRU GLASS

The moon is now at an interesting stage and any person interested in its study should visit the residence of Dr. E. J. Lilly, E. Union-st. at 8 o'clock this evening. Dr. Lilly has telescopes in his yard through which interesting views of the moon can be obtained.

CIGARETTE TAX AND FUND BILL NEAR PASSAGE

House Fights Form Senate Works on Latest Near Session End

NEED 122 MILLIONS

License Tag Bill Is Before Governor

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—The state house of representatives went to battle today over the question of passing the cigarette tax bill, the senate went to work on the big biennial appropriation bill.

The cigarette tax bill, passed the senate, would tax of one cent for every 10 cigarettes. Endorsed by the joint taxation committee, the posed statute is estimated to bring about $4,000,000 a year.

The appropriation bill, which passed the house, provides for the expenditure of approximately $122,000,000 for governmental operations during the next two years. Of this amount about $66,500,000 would be derived from the state's general fund for salaries, maintenance and various improvements of state departments and controlled universities and colleges.

The rest of the money would be paid out of highway and special state funds for improvement projects and governmental activities.

HOUSE BILLS
A number of bills introduced on the floor of the house today. Some of them are as to whether the state should pass the house.

Because of numerous amendments made by the senate taxation committee, the big appropriation bill, after passing the senate, sent back to the house with a request for concurrence in its amendments.

With all differences between the senate and the house, the special joint taxation committee's bill increasing the license fees for motor vehicles is ready to be sent to Governor White for his approval or rejection.

Both legislative branches Tuesday accepted the report of joint conference committee which provided that the house accept the request of the senate for the house amendment raising the fee for the higher-priced automobiles from $10 to $15 a year, and for the lower-priced automobiles from $5 to $10 a year.

As the bill goes to the governor it provides for the following annual rates, based upon the value of the vehicle: $10, $15, $20, and $25. The amendment which would increase the fee for the higher-priced automobiles from $10 to $15 a year, or about $13,000,000 more than the existing law which fixes the rates for autos of $4, $7, and $10 a year.

FILES BANKRUPTCY

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—A petition in voluntary bankruptcy was filed in federal court here today by Charles Mitchell, Circleville florist. He estimated his assets at $882 and his debts at $200.

When the swelling subsides, a plaster cast will be placed about the injury and Miss Nichols will go home for a long rest.

GAS MASKS HELP

Gas masks obtained a month ago for the Lancaster city fire department were used for the first time Wednesday night when the fireman answered a call at the railroad station in that city where some kegs of hydrofluoric acid had fallen over in a freight car, the leaking fluid emanating poisonous fumes that prevented any of the railroad workmen from entering the car. The firemen adjusted their masks and soon extinguished the kegs.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise of the local department has asked council to purchase such masks for the local engine house.

CONDITION OF FRENCH PLAN UNFAVORABLE

Complete Cessation of Debt Payment for Year to Be Denied

HOOVER DISPLEASED
Plan Would Be 75 Percent
Effective

WASHINGTON, June 24.—France's apparent decision to accept President Hoover's moratorium proposal only by imposing conditions which severely limit the scope of the plan deeply disappointed Washington today.

Advices from Paris were that the French will reject that part of the Hoover suggestion which contemplated complete cessation of all inter-governmental war debts for one year, and insist that Germany still pay into the bank for international settlements the "non-postponable" part of her annual reparations, amounting to $110,000,000.

DECISION REACHED

The decision of the French apparently has been reached in the face of information that such a reply is unsatisfactory to the United States.

Ambassador Edge, in his conferences with Premier Laval, is understood to have acquainted him with Washington's objections to such a counter-proposal, and Ambassador Claudel here has also kept his government informed of this government's aversion to it. Nevertheless, all information reaching here from Paris, both public and private, indicates the French are going ahead despite American objections.

The practical effect of the French condition, it was pointed out here, would be to make President Hoover's plan, as applied to Germany, only about 75 per cent effective, whereas his proposal was a one hundred per cent suspension of all war-time obligations.

The attitude of this government in the matter thus becomes a matter of deepest concern.

WONT BARGAIN

Both President Hoover and Secretary Stimson have indicated that the American government did not wish to "bargain" or "trade" in the matter. But if the French reply, expected tonight or early tomorrow, bears out all the advance notices from Paris, they will be confronted with doing just that—bargaining. The only alternative would be to abandon the whole thing, which is almost inconceivable, for after the world's hopes had been raised so high an abandonment would be calculated to have a devastating effect throughout Europe. It might plunge Germany into the very chaos from which President Hoover sought to save her by his original proposal.

The fact that France would agree not to draw upon the German annuity in the international settlements bank does not, in the opinion of officials here, materially alter the situation. Germany still has to raise the money, and the fact she might be able to draw on it herself, through short term credit, does not mitigate the burden of having to raise it. President Hoover's original objective was to relieve Germany of all burdens in connection with war debts for one year.

ROTARY TO MEET THURSDAY 6:30

Members of the Rotary Club will meet at the Pickaway Country Club, Thursday, at 6:30 p. m., in their regular meeting, at which time the installation of officers will take place.

A number of members plan to enjoy golf in the afternoon.

LIMA, O., June 24.—Three banks controlled by N. W. Cunningham of Bluffton, near here, were taken over for liquidation today by State Banking Superintendent Ira J. Fulton.

The institutions taken over were:
The Commercial Bank & Savings Co., at Bluffton, Capital stock $60,000, surplus $19,000, total assets $1,400,000.

The Commercial Savings Bank, at Rawson, in Hancock-co. Capital stock $25,000, total assets $215,000.

The LaFayette Bank at Lafayette in Allen-co, a private bank. Capital stock $10,000, total assets $125,000.

Interest High In "Just Kids" Theatre Party

"Have you your Just Kids Button?" is the question that the members of the Just Kids Safety Club are asking all their friends. And why not? It is the admission ticket to the big Theatre Party at the Grand Saturday morning.

Mr. Baughman, through special arrangement has secured "Headin' North," featuring Bob Steele and every boy and girl in Pickaway-co picks him as their favorite. After the show and when the boys and girls are getting a bit hungry and thirsty, Frank A. Lynch of the Circleville Bottling Works is going to treat every one who attends the party with an individual piece of Furnas Ice Cream.

It's going to be a big Party and the hundreds of present members are telling all their friends to "Join now!" and get their button so they can all go to the Grand Saturday morning.

But they also tell them to remember to "Look Up and Down" before crossing the street for they can't afford to get hurt and miss seeing this picture and eating Ice Cream after the party.

PETIT JURORS ARE SUMMONED

Case of Fred and Josie Drum
Against Grices Begins
Thursday at 9 A. M.

Petit jurors are to report at the office of Clerk of Courts Ferd M. Pickens at 9 a. m. Thursday to hear the case of Fred and Josie Drum against Howard N. and Verna E. Grice, in which the plaintiff will attempt to recover possession of personal property.

Fred P. Griner is attorney for the plaintiff and Frank Redfern of Adelphi represents the defendants.

COLLETT TRIAL

The trial of Newton Collett, who resides on the Benjamin Yates farm in Deer Creek-twp, and who pleaded not guilty to a charge of possession of implements designed to manufacture intoxicating liquors, was underway in probate court Thursday, before Judge E. A. Brown.

Among the witnesses called in the case were George Baynham and Michael Poyma of the state prohibition department, Deputy Sheriffs Bryan Custer, Bob Armstrong and Miller Fissell, and Peck Walston of Deer Creek-twp.

Prosecutor E. L. Cright represents the state and Abernethy and Simkins are Collett's attorneys.

DENNIS ESTATE

O. E. Martin of Groveport, R. F. D., has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late John W. Dennis of Commercial Point in probate court.

The estate is estimated to be worth $450.
Elizabeth M. Martin has been named administratrix of the estate of the late Mary I. Dennis also of Commercial Point. Her estate is estimated to be worth $650.

Samuel Davis, Harry Trego and W. E. Lamb are appraisers.

DOOLITTLE SAVES SELF WITH 'CHUTE

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL., June

24.—Maj. James H. "Jimmy" Doolittle, famed flyer, by quick action today had saved himself with a parachute jump when wing fabric of a plane of his own design tore loose while he was doing 235 miles an hour.

Doolittle noticed the wing tear at an altitude of 100 feet and immediately nosed his plane upward so he would make the leap safely. He left the ship at an altitude of 400 feet, about the minimum at which an aviator can jump with safety. He said the wings were from an old plane and evidently unable to stand the strain.

WEDDING GUEST TRAIN VICTIM

HAMILTON, O., June 24.—Mrs. C. B. Becker, 39, was almost instantly killed today while on her way to attend the wedding of a friend when the automobile she was driving was struck by a fast passenger train seven miles north of here.

LORINE E. LUTZ PASSES AWAY IN FT. WAYNE

Native of This City is Victim of Complications
Late Tuesday

LEAVES 4 CHILDREN

Body to Be Returned Here
For Services

Lorin Earl Lutz, aged 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Lutz, 353 E. Main-st, succumbed in St. Joe's hospital, Fort Wayne, Ind., just before midnight Tuesday. A complication of diseases took the life of this well known and popular young man. He suffered from pleurisy and only a week ago underwent an operation for appendicitis. Since undergoing the operation his condition had been very critical, and Tuesday it was reported his chance to recover was only slight.

GRADUATED AT O. S. U.

He was a native of this city, born July 31, 1903, the only son of Earl W. and Ethel B. Morris Lutz. He attended the common schools in this city and graduated from Circleville high school in the class of 1920. After completing his common education he attended Washington & Jefferson University at Washington, Pa., and graduated from Ohio State University in 1925 from the school of chemical engineering. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and of Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity, an honorary chemistry organization. He was a member of the local Rotary club when he was transferred from this city over a year ago to Fort Wayne where he was employed by the Citizens Telephone Co., of which his father is local superintendent.

MARRIED IN 1921

On June 18, 1921, he was married to Marian Elizabeth Rowe, daughter of Mrs. W. C. Rowe, in Greenup, Ky. To this union were born four children, William, Marilyn, Emily and Evelyn, the last two being twins.

Surviving are the wife and children, the parents and two sisters, Mrs. D. A. Yates, N. Scioto-st, and Miss Bernadine at home.

Fred C. Clark of the Albaugh Co., left Wednesday morning for Fort Wayne to return the body to this city for burial, funeral arrangements having not yet been completed.

SHUTE WINS!

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—Here in the state where he holds an open championship, Densmore Shute, of Hudson, O., today whipped Frank Walsh of Chicago in a neck-and-neck match and hammered his way into position number ten on the American Ryder Golf team.

Shute's victory concluded the battle for the two regular and alternate positions on the American team that started here Monday.

Shute's brilliant climax gave him a par 72—a single stroke ahead of Walsh.

Limping along in third place came Henry Gulci, of Stratford, Conn., who withdrew at the end of the sixteenth hole when he fell hopelessly behind.

MAN IS KILLED AS CARS ARE DERAILED

PENSACOLA, Fla., June 24.—One man was killed and two others injured when the locomotive of south bound Louisville & Nashville passenger train No. 3 plunged off the track and was overturned seven miles north of Pensacola today.

The dead man, a tramp, riding between the engine tender and the baggage coach could not be immediately identified.

The engineer received burns that doctors feared might prove fatal, while the fireman was only slightly injured.

FORMER PREXY AT URBANA IS VICTIM

BALTIMORE, June 24.—Their automobile skidding off the Reisterstown road and upsetting near here during a downpour yesterday, Dr. Henry E. Schradieck, former president of Urbana College, Urbana, O., was so badly injured that he died last night at Union Memorial hospital.

CANDIDATE

Paul V. McNutt, former national commander of the American Legion, and who is an active candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Indiana, is expected to take a prominent part at a Democratic rally to be held at Madison, Ind., next Tuesday June 30. The rally is considered an antidote for recent meetings held by the anti-McNutt faction of the Democratic party.

STATE ROUTES TO BE MARKED

Highway No. 23 Included
Among Those To Be Painted To Direct Aviators.

State Route 23, which runs through this city, will be marked for the guidance of aviators; along with a number of other state highways which border the sky lanes and lead to cities where airport facilities may be found, according to plans advanced by Lieutenant Frank McKee, state director of aeronautics.

Under the plan outlined, the name of the next city on the route where an adequate airport is located, an arrow indicating the compass direction and the number of miles to be flown will be marked on the highway.

The plan varies from that in vogue in other states where route numbers are marked on the highways, thereby necessitating the carrying of road maps.

Route 23 will be marked from Portsmouth to Toledo at Portsmouth, Chillicothe, Circleville, Columbus, Delaware, Marion, Upper Sandusky, Fostoria and Toledo.

Other routes to be marked are: U. S. Route 3, Cincinnati to Cleveland; U. S. Route 40, Wheeling to Vandallia; U. S. Route 25, Cincinnati to Toledo; U. S. Route 20, Cincinnati to Bryan; State Route 37, Columbus to Marietta; one from Cleveland to Bridgeport, and another taking the flyers around the northern, eastern rim of the state, from Cleveland to Youngstown, Bridgeport, Gallipolis, Portsmouth and Cincinnati.

IMPROVEMENT SITE VIEWED BY COUNCIL

A committee of the city council including W. F. Baker, T. M. Barnes and J. H. Helwage accompanied by Service Director L. E. Miller and Solicitor Paul Adkins, and City Engineer William Maloney, and Attorney Barton Walters, representing the Norfolk & Western Railroad went over proposed improvements in West-ern-ave and viewed the sites where several crossings are to be eliminated, Tuesday evening, with a view to work out the details of the improvement program which is proposed in a friendly suit filed in common pleas court by the railroad.

MANY TO WATCH MOON THRU GLASS

The moon is now at an interesting stage and any person interested in its study should visit the residence of Dr. E. J. Lilly, E. Union-st, at 8 o'clock this evening. Dr. Lilly has telescopes in his yard through which interesting views of the moon can be obtained.

CIGARETTE TAX AND FUND BILL NEAR PASSAGE

House Fights Former,
Senate Works on Latter
Near Session End

NEED 122 MILLIONS

License Tag Bill Is Before
Governor

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—While the state house of representatives went to battle today over the question of passing the cigarette tax bill, the senate went to similar work on the big biennial appropriation bill.

The cigarette tax bill, which passed the senate, would levy a tax of one cent for every 10 cigarettes. Endorsed by the special joint taxation committee, the proposed statute is estimated to raise about $4,000,000 a year.

The appropriation measure, which passed the house, provides for the expenditure of approximately $122,000,000 for state governmental operations during the coming two years. Of this amount about $66,500,000 would be expended from the state's general revenue funds for salaries, maintenance costs and various improvements in state departments and in state-controlled universities and colleges.

The rest of the money would be paid out of highway and other special state funds for highway improvement projects and other governmental activities.

FIGHT EXPECTED
Vigorous opposition is anticipated on the floor of the house when the cigarette bill comes up for debate. Some doubt existed today as to whether the measure would pass the house.

Because of numerous changes made by the senate taxation committee, the big appropriation bill, after passing the senate, will be sent back to the house with a request for concurrence in the senate amendments.

With all difference between the senate and the house ironed out, the special joint taxation committee's bill increasing the license tag fees for motor vehicles is now ready to be sent to Governor George White for his approval, or rejection.

Both legislative branches late Tuesday accepted the report of the joint conference committee which provided that the house accede to the request of the senate that the house amend raising the fees for the higher-priced cars to stricken from the bill. All other houses amendments, of a minor nature, were accepted by the senate.

As the bill goes to the governor it provides for the following annual rates, based upon classification according to horsepower: $7, $10, $15, $20, and $25. The house amendment which was eliminated had boosted the $20 fee to $25 and the $25 to $35.

If approved by the governor, this measure will become effective as law the first of next year and is estimated to yield about $23,000,000 a year in revenue, or about $12,000,000 more than the existing law which fixes the rates for autos at $4, $7, and $10 a year.

FILES BANKRUPTCY

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—A petition in voluntary bankruptcy was filed in federal court here today by Charles Mitchell, Circleville florist. He estimated debts at $852 and his assets at $300.

1,500 AT MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS START HARD LABORS

FORT BENJAMIN HARRISON, Ind.—The candidates at the citizens' training camp held their first formal parade this week when the first battalion was formed on the parade ground at retreat formation. This formation marks the close of the day to the soldier, and perhaps, one of the most impressive ceremonies in the military life of the soldier.

Today marked the first real day of work for the 1,500 trainees from Indiana and Ohio, as the schedule of drill, lectures and ceremonies was closely followed by instructors in charge of the young men. The morning hours saw the candidates on the beautiful parade ground in company formation at drill for short periods, after which the trainees were given a short rest, when the instructors in charge gave lectures to the units on military courtesy, personal hygiene, and other subjects dealing with the primary instruction in the school of the soldier.

One of the outstanding features of the course of instruction laid down by the War Department regulations is the series of lectures in citizenship. This course deals with the history of the American government and the obligations of the citizenry to the Government. Practically every day a portion of this subject is dealt with by an officer especially prepared to lecture on it. The candidates, at a later date, take an examination in this important subject, and appropriate prizes are given young men in the camp, who are proficient in the subject.

The afternoon hours are given over to athletic events, and 1st Lieutenant F. A. Henning, an instructor permanently on duty at Purdue University, has been designated as athletic officer and in charge of the supervised athletics and games for the camp. Candidates will also be given the privilege of playing on the splendid golf course here.

The first night program, consisting of songs and dances, presented by prominent club workers of Indianapolis, was given this evening and was enthusiastically received by the young candidates. This feature will be welcomed by all in the camp as a fitting end to a hard day's work on the drill and athletic fields.

The scheduled instruction and recreation provided for in the camp has been met with enthusiastic reception by every young man in attendance, and judging from the attitude of the trainees, this, the seventh citizens' training

Man Identified With Democratic Politics Has Publicity Office.

COLUMBUS, O.—A man who has been prominently identified with Democratic political activities in Ohio in recent years occupies a unique position in the state's governmental activities.

This man is Charles V. Truax, former director of agriculture. Truax, who served as chief of the state department of agriculture during the administration of former Governor Vic Donahey, now is publicity director for the division of conservation and for that of the state fair, both of which are parts of the agricultural department.

He recently took charge of this work which includes supervision of the varied forms of advertising designed to stimulate state-wide interest in, and attract huge crowds to the annual state fair. He also, edits certain publications issued by the division of conservation dealing with the great outdoors.

During the pre-primary campaign last summer, Truax, along with Welfare Director John McSweeney, W. W. Durbin, Kenton, former chairman of the Democratic state committee, and former State Representative George S. Myers, of Cleveland, were unsuccessful candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States senator. This nomination went to U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley, of Cleveland, who won the election last November.

Truax was the Democratic nominee during the preceding U. S. senatorial campaign, but was defeated when the Buckeye state voters re-elected Simeon D. Fess, (R), of Yellow Springs, for the long term.

While making his futile quests for the senatorial toga, Truax made fervid appeals for financial relief for the farmers. His campaign was featured by numerous speeches broadcasted into all sections of the state by radio.

Truax is just as eager today to champion the interests of the farmers as he was while in the heat of the senatorial campaign. "The farmers must have relief," said Truax.

"Good times are dependent upon proper conditions on the farms," he continued.

"The basis for nationwide prosperity is found in adequate prices to the farmers for their products. This condition increases their purchasing power and serves to stimulate commercial activities with the result that manufacturing establishments operate at a greater capacity and the city folk have employment and money with which to buy more."

CHEMICAL BANDS KILL WORM PEST

Dealing death to migrating codling moth worms after they have left the fruit, chemically treated bands placed about three trunks will reduce the worm population of the orchard, according to T. H. Parks, extension specialist in entomology at the state university.

When placed on the trunks of apple trees, chemically treated or "self working" bands kill the trapped worms after they have spun their cocoons beneath them. In preparation for banding, Parks points out, the orchardist should scrape every fragment of loose bark from the trunks and older branches. If this is not done the use of bands will be ineffective.

Chemically treated bands, he says, consist of single faced corrugated paper, 2 to 4 inches wide, rolled and dipped in a hot solution of chemical. This soaks in the paper and kills larvae coming in contact with it.

Such bands do not repel the worms and seemingly collect as many as do untreated paper or burlap bands. The bands are treated with either alpha-naphthol or parawax or beta-naphthol. Tests show that the former is slightly more attractive to larvae than the latter. Four-inch bands have been found to be more effective than the 2-inch bands.

Corrugated paper bands, whether treated or not, should be fitted tightly to the tree trunk with the corrugated edge next to the tree, Parks declares. If there are depressions in the tree trunk, a large headed tack should hold the band in the groove of the trunk so that there are no open spaces beneath. The bands should be placed from 18 to 24 inches from the ground and the ends overlapped slightly. They are best handled with gloves, as the chemical may irritate the skin.

It is best to apply the bands before June 15 in southern Ohio and before July 1 in northern Ohio, he asserts. They should be left on all summer and removed during the late fall or winter. However, such bands are not recommended for young trees.

The use of chemically treated bands does not take the place of any spray the orchardist has found necessary to apply. Parks warns orchardists who have a spray use the problem, however, of why for carrying a

Reno's Divorce Mill Enlarged

RENO, Nev., June 24.—Recruited from the ends of the earth Reno's great divorce parade week by week grows larger.

South Africa, Hawaii, Straits Settlements, the stage, the social blue books of a score of American cities, the business world and every strata of society had representatives in the latest output of the divorce mill, who today were scattering the world over with their Reno decrees.

Another new record for divorces granted had been established by Reno's two district judges when they granted 111 divorces in their regular Monday "matrimonial washday" cleanup. Their previous record established only a week ago was 99. A divorce every four minutes rolled from the pens of Judges Benjamin F. Currier and Thomas F. Moran, the former granting 58 and the latter 53.

Amazing even the most optimistic sponsors of quick and easy divorces, mass production is on in earnest, each week seeing a steady increase in business—a greater throng of the mis-mated seeking freedom.

DETROIT'S INTERESTING POINTS WILL BE SHOWN HERALD PARTY

Through a carefully arranged schedule, members of The Herald special vacation party to Detroit will be escorted to all the interesting points in Detroit in comfort.

The itinerary might indicate that it would take more than six days from Circleville and return to accomplish so many things. It is made possible for this party through the efforts of officials of the Detroit Street Railways company and because of special arrangements made with officers in charge at most of the places visited.

Only those fortunate folks who have visited Detroit and have had the privilege of trained escorts can realize the diversity of entertainment that awaits one in the "city of the straits". Detroit is proud of its position as a tourist mecca and our party will be entertained at the finest resorts, at the immense industrial plants; will see many beautiful homes and gardens, and will sail on the lakes and rivers.

We will see the Detroit river—the busiest waterway in the world from the enchanting shore drives, from Belle Isle and from one of the finest passenger boats. The Detroit river is half a mile or more in width and is thirty one miles long, connecting Lake Erie with Lake St. Clair. Every day and night this river is a constantly moving pageant of water transportation. Palatial passenger steamers, excursion boats, stately yachts, gigantic freighters, ferries and speed craft make every day regatta day in Detroit.

We see the beautiful parks, visit the finest theaters, the largest of 133 drug manufacturers in the city. There is a coupon in the paper today for your convenience—just fill it out and send or bring it to The Herald and we will send you complete information on the entire trip.

OVERRIDE VETO

BUCYRUS, O.—Overriding for the first time in eight years an executive veto by Mayor Arthur Schuler, city council has unanimously adopted legislation ordering City Service Director Clarence Coker to purchase Port Bucyrus as a site for the municipal airport.

Mayor Schuler, who had twice vetoed the legislation, continued his fight to the last ditch, urging council to transfer the $15,000 to the city poor fund for use next winter, and threatened a popular referendum if council overrode his veto.

A $40,000 airport bond issue was approved by citizens in November, 1929.

Council plans to lease the airport to Miss Lauretta Schimmoler, present operator of Port Bucyrus, who signed a lease with the Chicago & Eastern Airways to use the field as a regular stop on its projected Chicago-to-Pittsburgh air line.

CAREFUL THERE!

ELYRIA, O.—It is one thing to swear at a motorist if you are a truck driver, but it is still another thing to think about, if the motorist you are cursing is the sheriff of the county in which you are driving.

No one can tell Terry Yoder of Indiana, that it is all right to swear at a motorist. He is a truck driver and, while rambling along the road in this section, became quite mad. He swore. The driver of the car displayed a badge.

The other driver was Sheriff Clarence Adams, accompanied by several women. Yoder had uttered five words in his profane moment. They were worth $5 apiece to Lorain county. A judge fined him $25 and cost.

BOLTS TWISTED

MASSILLON, O.—Two bolts of lightning became mixed in their courses here during a thunderstorm and struck the same place twice. Within 20 minutes during a severe electrical storm, the C. L. Young residence was hit twice.

Both bolts followed the same path, going through the electric light wires and damaging a small lamp.

HELP US TO KEEP THE WOLVES OUT

In these few words is embodied a great thought, a message sent to the worthy citizens of Pickaway County by the dear little children who are asking for the upbuilding of a beautiful city, which would give them a chance to grow and progress.

In such a modern city as pictured in this cut, there is something to look forward to, something to be proud of, something to aspire to. That is the plan of a modern city where health, joy, happiness, success and prosperity are the fundamental principles upon which it is built. Nevertheless, no matter how prosperous a city may be, it must have the elements of protection and prevention.

In former days the physician was burdened with the care of sickness; he worked day and night to take care of the sick. He made his daily rounds, looking after Johnny's cold and Mary's tonsils, John's typhoid fever and Brown's heart trouble. Now the physician is interested in the system of preventative medicine, he does not wait until the disease sets in, he foresees danger and prevents it. He does not have to run day and night to take care of these conditions, but prevents them. He advises Johnny's parents to keep him away from children that have colds and insists that those that have colds be kept quarantined and isolated and prevents them from spreading this dreadful disease of colds among other children. The school principle and the teacher know and understand the seriousness of colds and see to it that any child with a cold should be excluded from the school, be kept home and receive proper attention, through the hands of a skillful and qualified physician. The modern physician sees to it that Mary gets an immunizing dose of Toxin-Antitoxin against diphtheria instead of waiting until Mary has already contracted diphtheria and then be immunized. The modern physician realizes fully well his responsibility and relationship to the Community and keeps in constant touch with modern progress in medicine. Visit a modern physician's office and you will find there an office that's neat and clean, nifty and attractive, on his table you will find all up to date books and literature, he is equipped with diagnostic instruments and devices, he is versed and posted on all the latest preventive methods. He is ready to fight these hungry wolves off from every home and from every path of the community. He is always ready to help build up a protective wall, of brick made up of the latest in the field of preventative medicine.

He works hand in hand with the Board of Health of his community and sees that all these prophylactic measures are very well carried out. The Physicians of Pickaway County and other counties are all made up of the modern type, they have all received modern training and education, they are all wide awake to the value of these preventive measures, they are always ready to be of service to the members of the community and anxious to help build such a powerful wall as presented in this picture for the welfare of their communities.

Thus the dear little children of Pickaway County are asking us to help build in each town of Pickaway County such a wall to keep the hungry wolves out. The physicians of Pickaway County are ready to build they are willing to go to work, all they want is the cooperation of the parents the community and the loyal citizens.

The physicians in Pickaway-co have expressed their willingness to treat all the children and immunize them with all the modern protective and preventative measures so that they can grow up to be healthy happy and loyal citizens and help keep up that fortified wall against these hungry wolves. So let up help them build it.

Reno's Divorce Mill Enlarged

RENO, Nev., June 24.—Recruits from the ends of the earth Reno's great divorce parade week by week grows larger.

South Africa, Hawaii, Straits Settlements, the stage, the social clubs, the business world and everywhere strata of society had representatives in the latest output of the divorce mill, who today were scattering the world over with their new decrees.

Another new record for divorces granted had been established by Reno's two district judges when they granted 111 divorces in their regular Monday "matrimonial washday" cleanup. Their previous record established only a week ago was 95. A divorce every four minutes rolled from the pens of Judges Benjamin F. Currier and Thomas F. Moran, the former granting 58 and the latter 53.

Amazing even the most optimistic sponsors of quick and easy divorces, mass production as on an assembly line, each week seeing a steady increase in business—a greater throng of the mis-mated seeking freedom.

Weak, Tired... Couldn't Work

"I feel much better Now"

I WAS weak and run down and couldn't work much. Some days I was in bed all day... on account of female weakness.

My doctor recommended your Vegetable Compound to me and I began taking it right away.

I quite feel like a new woman. Work all day and am stronger and feel fine now.

I have only taken 3 bottles but I found relief in the first one I took. I recommended it to any woman who suffers as I did.—Mrs. C. E. Hawk, R. R. No. 2, Promise City, Iowa.

DETROIT'S INTERESTING POINTS WILL BE SHOWN HERALD PARTY

Through a carefully arranged schedule, members of The Herald special vacation party to Detroit will be escorted to all the interesting points in Detroit in comfort.

The itinerary might indicate that it would take more than six days from Circleville and return to accomplish so many things. It is made possible for this party through the efforts of officials of the Detroit Street Railways company and because of special arrangements made with officers in charge at most of the places visited.

Only those fortunate folks who have visited Detroit and have had the privilege of trained escorts can realize the diversity of entertainment that awaits one in the "city of the straits". Detroit is proud of its position as a tourist mecca and our party will be entertained at the finest resorts, at the immense industrial plants; will see many beautiful homes and gardens, and will sail on the lakes and rivers.

We will see the Detroit river—the busiest waterway in the world from the enchanting shore drives, from Belle Isle and from one of the finest passenger boats. The Detroit river is half a mile or more in width and is thirty one miles long, connecting Lake Erie with Lake St. Clair. Every day and night this river is a constantly moving pageant of water transportation. Palatial passenger steam-

1,500 AT MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS START HARD LABORS

FORT BENJAMIN HARRISON, Ind.—The candidates at the citizens' training camp held their first formal parade this week when the first battalion was formed on the parade ground at retreat formation. This formation marks the close of the day to the soldier, and perhaps, one of the most impressive ceremonies in the military life of the soldier.

Today marked the first real day of work for the 1,500 trainees from Indiana and Ohio, as the schedule of drill, lectures and ceremonies was closely followed by instructors in charge of the young men. The morning hours saw the candidates on the beautiful parade ground in company formation at drill for short periods, after which the trainees were given a short rest, when the instructors in charge gave lectures to the units on military courtesy, personal hygiene, and other subjects dealing with the primary instruction in the school of the soldier.

One of the outstanding features of the course of instruction laid down by the War Department regulations is the series of lectures in citizenship. This course deals with the history of the American government and the obligations of the citizenry to the Government. Practically every day a portion of this subject is dealt with by an officer especially prepared to lecture on it. The candidates, at a later date, take an examination in this important subject, and appropriate prizes are given young men in the camp, who are proficient in the subject.

The afternoon hours are given over to athletic events, and 1st Lieutenant F. A. Henning, an instructor permanently on duty at Purdue University, has been designated as athletic officer and in charge of the supervised athletics and games for the camp. Candidates will also be given the privilege of playing on the splendid golf course here.

The first night program, consisting of songs and dances, presented by prominent club workers of Indianapolis, was given this evening and was enthusiastically received by the young candidates. This feature will be welcomed by all in the camp as a fitting end to a hard day's work on the drill and athletic fields.

The scheduled instruction and recreation provided for in the camp has been met with enthusiastic reception by every young man in attendance, and judging from the attitude of the trainees, this, the seventh citizens' training camp here, will prove to be one of the most successful ever held at the Indiana army post.

Man Identified With Democratic Politics Has Publicity Office.

COLUMBUS, O.—A man who has been prominently identified with Democratic political activities in Ohio in recent years occupies a unique position in the state's governmental activities.

This man is Charles V. Truax, former director of agriculture.

Truax, who served as chief of the state department of agriculture during the administration of former Governor Vic Donahey, now is publicity director for the division of conservation and for that of the state fair, both of which are parts of the agricultural department.

He recently took charge of this work which includes supervision of the varied forms of advertising designed to stimulate state-wide interest in, and attract huge crowds to the annual state fair. He also, edits certain publications issued by the division of conservation dealing with the great outdoors.

During the pre-primary campaign last summer, Truax, along with Welfare Director John McSweeney, W. W. Durbin, Kenton, former chairman of the Democratic state committee, and former State Representative George S. Myers, of Cleveland, were unsuccessful candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States senator. This nomination went to U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley, of Cleveland, who won the election last November.

Truax was the Democratic nominee during the preceding U. S. senatorial campaign, but was defeated when the Buckeye state voters re-elected Simeon D. Fess, (R), of Yellow Springs, for the long term.

While making his futile quest for the senatorial toga, Truax made fervid appeals for financial relief for the farmers. His campaign was featured by numerous speeches broadcasted into all sections of the state by radio.

Truax is just as eager today to champion the interests of the farmers as he was while in the heat of the senatorial campaigns. "The farmers must have relief," said Truax.

"Good times are dependent upon proper conditions on the farms," he continued.

"The basis for nationwide prosperity is found in adequate prices to the farmers for their products. This condition increases their purchasing power and serves to stimulate commercial activities with the result that manufacturing establishments operate at a greater capacity and the city folk have employment and money with which to buy more."

CHEMICAL BANDS KILL WORM PEST

Dealing death to migrating codling moth worms after they have left the fruit, chemically treated bands placed about three trunks will reduce the worm population of the orchard, according to T. H. Parks, extension specialist in entomology at the state university.

When placed on the trunks of apple trees, chemically treated or "self working" bands kill the trapped worms after they have spun their cocoons beneath them. In preparation for banding, Parks points out, the orchardist should scrape every fragment of loose bark from the trunks and older branches. If this is not done the use of bands will be ineffective.

Chemically treated bands, he says, consist of single faced corrugated paper, 2 to 4 inches wide, rolled and dipped in a hot solution of chemical. This soaks in the paper and kills larvae coming in contact with it.

Such bands do not repel the worms and seemingly collect as many as do untreated paper or burlap bands. The bands are treated with either alpha-naphthol oil paraffin or beta-naphthol oil. Tests show that the former is slightly more attractive to larvae than the latter. Four-inch bands have been found to be more effective than the 2-inch bands.

Corrugated paper bands, whether treated or not, should be fitted tightly to the tree trunk with the corrugated edge next to the tree, Parks declares. If there are depressions in the tree trunk, a large headed tack should hold the band in the groove of the trunk so that there are no open spaces beneath. The bands should be placed from 18 to 24 inches from the ground and the ends overlapped slightly. They are best handled with gloves, as the chemical may irritate the skin.

It is best to apply the bands before June 15 in southern Ohio and before July 1 in northern Ohio, he asserts. They should be left on all summer and removed during the late fall or winter. However, such bands are not recommended for young trees.

The use of chemically treated bands does not take the place of any spray the orchardist has found necessary to apply, Parks warns. Orchardists who have a spray residue problem, because of the necessity for applying a late spr-

MORE FINANCE, NOT LESS IS ASKED BY UNIVERSITIES

COLUMBUS, O., June 23.—A militant senate finance committee today prepared to clash with the house of representatives over the latter's demand that salaries and wages be cut 10 per cent at all state-supported colleges and universities.

Leading the committee out of the wilderness of confusion, Chairman Robert L. Robe, (R) of Tiffin, last night submitted a plan by which the house scheme would be discarded.

Presented after a long hearing in which presidents of the five state educational institutions appeared to charge the house with "discrimination," the Robe plan found almost immediate approval by the senate committee.

In brief the Robe plan aims to add to the amount allowed the five schools by the house barely enough money to permit the employment of teaching staffs on the same basis as in the past biennium.

At Ohio State, Miami and Ohio universities, and Kent State and Bowling Green colleges the amount to be allowed for "personal service" would be 8 1/2 per cent less than provided in the Cooper budget, but much more than was asked in the bill which recently passed the house.

By Senator Robe's suggestion the five institutions would be given back $470,000 taken from them by the house, distributed as follows: Ohio State $200,000; Miami, $127,000; Ohio university $60,000; Kent State, $54,000; Bowling Green $36,000.

While "certain adjustments" might have to be made, in general the passages of the Robe plan would spare colleges and universities of the necessity of ordering a horizontal salary cut, administrators said.

The proportionate increase suggested by Robe followed a long questioning of President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State university.

Ohio State will need $200,000 in addition to the $6,131,530 provided in the house bill for salaries and wages, Dr. Rightmire said. He said the school would be badly crippled without that sum.

Pointing out that the total would then be about 8 1-2 per cent less than the amount recommended by Former Governor Cooper, Senator Robe suggested that the sum for other schools be reached by reducing their Cooper budget items by the same per cent.

The result, it was learned, would be: Ohio university $1,179,000; Miami, $1,134,000; Bowling Green, $570,400, and Kent State, $636,889.

Members of the senate finance committee appeared willing to reverse the house plan after listening to addresses by visiting presidents, who presented their objections.

"A loss in the spirit and a breaking down of the morale of the faculty and whole school will result,"

ROSE GARDENS ARE HIT BY WEATHER

During hot summer weather roses in the home garden require considerable care, according to Alex Laurie, professor of floriculture at the Ohio State University, who says that a 2-inch mulch on the beds will help to check weeds and to conserve soil moisture.

Roses should not be allowed to go to seed, he believes. As the flowers fade it is best to cut them off, but at least three leaves should be left at the bottom of each shoot which will provide a sufficient number of buds for future development and new flowers.

This is especially true with hybrid teas and tea roses. Budded and grafted roses tend to throw wild suckers from under the bottom or graft, especially if the roses are planted too shallowly.

It is best, Laurie states, to examine all rose plants frequently and if any of these suckers appear they should be clipped off. They may be recognized by their light green coloration and the appearance of 7 to 9 leaflets instead of the usual five of the hybrid kinds.

If the season is fairly cool and wet, mildew and black spot are almost sure to make their appearance. A very satisfactory method of control, he believes, is found in the use of sulphur dust of manganar dust which should be applied at regular weekly intervals. Such frequent applications will serve as a preventive if not as a cure.

If this salary-cut plan is carried out," Dr. J. O. Engelman, president of Kent State, warned the committee.

Dr. Engelman said that Kent State, like Ohio State, has had a tremendous increase in enrollment and that additional, instead of less, money is needed to carry on the school's work.

H. B. Williams, president of Bowling Green college, also sounded a note of caution.

"It is impossible to administer under decent standards of education with the sums of money you propose to give us," he said.

Robe's plan, the Tiffin senator said, "probably will prevent increases in staffs such as are needed to care for increases in enrollment, but it will prevent salary cuts."

As a result of the acceptance by the committee of the Robe plan the education item of the state budget probably will have to be sent to a conference committee of the two houses in an attempt to iron out the differences in opinion of the two branches.

Women may have the most sense, but it takes a man to marry one.

Hogs are more likely to make rapid, economical gains when, in addition to pasture, they are fed from 2.5 to 3.5 pounds of grain or other dry feeds daily per 100 pounds of live weight, says J. W. Wuichet, extension specialist in animal husbandry at the Ohio State University.

Hogs, he points out, can use only relatively small amounts of bulky feeds to advantage, and if they have to depend mostly on such feeds for their existence, their growth and gains will be slowed up with a resulting falling off of income. When gains are slowed up the hogs usually reach market at a period of less satisfactory prices than would be the case if they made rapid gains.

If oats are used in the grain mixture, they should not exceed more than 25 per cent of the total grain ration for fattening hogs. Barley probably should not exceed 50 to 60 per cent of the grain ration.

The trinity mixture which consists of 50 per cent tankage, 25 luscious oil meal, 25 per cent alfalfa meal, has been found to produce good results, he asserts. Unless this mixture is fed, it is a good idea to use two or more kinds of the protein feeds instead of one. One of them should be either tankage or one of the milk products. Cottonseed meal probably should not exceed 12 to 15 per cent of the total grain ration. It is good to feed soybeans if they are grown on the farm, but the best results will be obtained when some animal protein is also fed as a part of the protein supply.

Potato yields in 19 states promise to be 9 per cent larger than last year and 12 per cent above the five-year average.

Advertise!

ROGER Babson, the business and financial forerunner, is a debated figure in the world of finance and business. He has been in the business of making predictions in these fields for 30 years, has hit the nail on the head many times and has missed it on occasion, but the fact that he foretold the "Black October" stock crash and the present depression entitles him to a hearing when he now prophesies a return to prosperity.

Speaking before the Advertising Federation of America, he "stakes his reputation" on these predictions: That business has been its worst, that a slow change is getting in the right direction, that "in a reasonable time this country will again enter a period of marked prosperity," and that "now is the time to advertise."

He told the advertising men to go home and tell their merchants to advertise, giving their customers an opportunity to benefit from the current low prices, that the merchants may some day remember their good advice and be grateful. Adequate, intelligent advertising is an expression of courage and of faith in the ability of the country to stage a come-back. It also gets the business. If there are people who have money to spend and are not spending it, it is because the proper advertising has not reached them. There is no sales resistance or parsimony advertising will not break down.

Press Wrecked Capone

THE defense is now having its day in court, and an absolute acquittal is assured. One witness has refuted the many who have appeared against the defendant. The case is that of the press, which stands charged with promoting lawlessness and crime by the publication of sensational crime news.

Oddly, it was none other than Al Capone, the notorious Chicago gangster and racketeer, who saved the day for the newspapers. Or rather the newspapers saved themselves by calling the gang leader as a witness in their behalf.

Why does Capone stand today a confessed violator of several federal laws, awaiting an inevitable penitentiary sentence? Because the front pages of the newspapers have been filled for months with the sensational stories of his operations. A public prosecutor puts it, the newspapers, merely by printing the crime news, shamed the officials into scattering the Capone gang and stripping its leader of his power.

Is there anyone so fatuous as to believe that Chicago would have routed the Thompson gang, depriving Capone of his political protection, or that the federal authorities would have stepped in to break the back of gangland, if there had been no crime news to present the shocking facts to the public and to place Chicago in national disgrace?

Individual Teaching

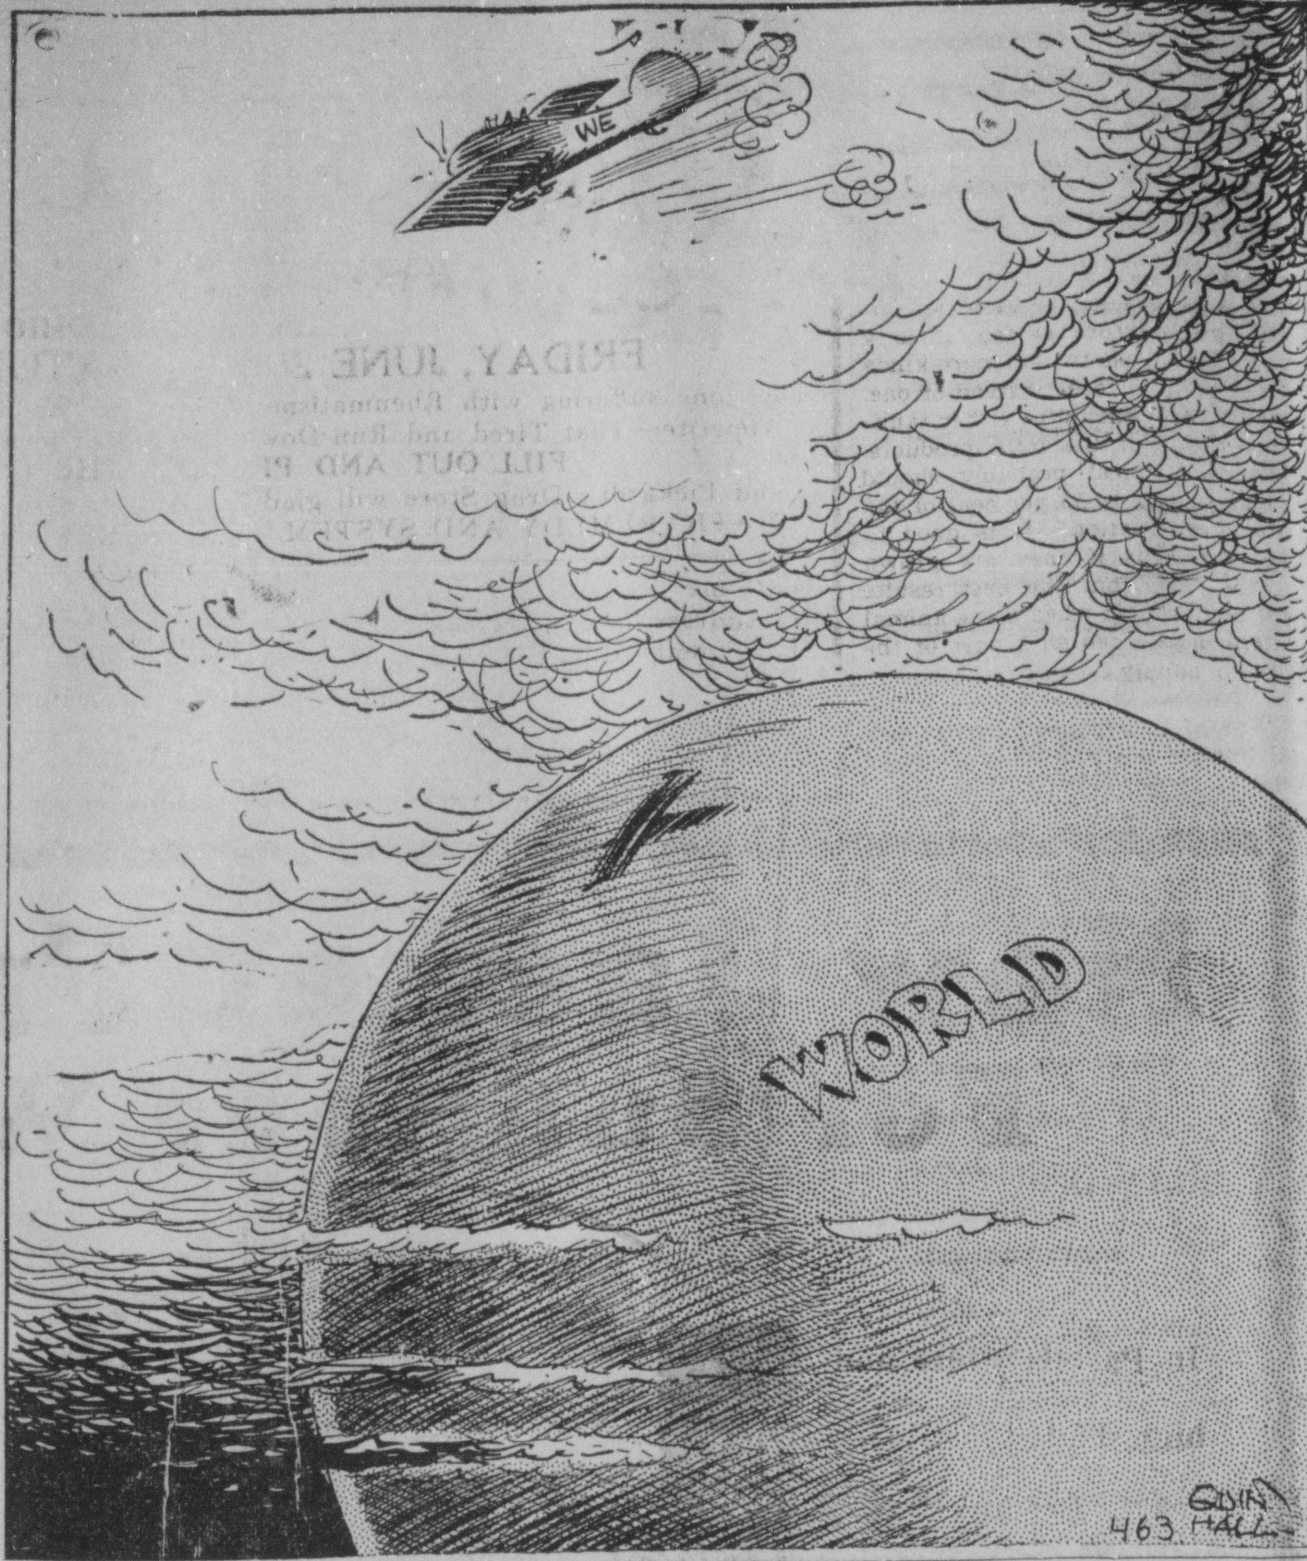

CRITICISM of the results of modern teaching has advanced in England to constructive experiment. Once the idea that the prevalent modern method might not be the last word in teaching gained hold, it was inevitable that other methods should be examined and tried.

Individual teaching is one substitute proposed in London. Instead of children being grouped by ages, class rooms may have children of all ages, according to their progress in that particular subject. In reading, for example, children are not limited to reading in class by turn, but are allotted certain amount of reading may do it at pleasure. This system is followed in other subjects. The form rooms are made into laboratories for each subject, and the pupils may elect to divide their time according to their needs. The results are reported to be instructive.

One value of the new plan is to develop a sense of personal effort and responsibility much greater than under the competitive class method. But the chief gain is the thoroughness attained. The children are taken out of the lock-step and liberated for self advancement.

Perhaps your wife's increased weight will offend you less if you'll look in the mirror and note how funny your bald spot is.

A KNIGHT COMES FLYING

Dave Ordway finds love and adventure when his plane crashes in the orange groves owned by beautiful Joan Marbury. He loves Joan, but her reserve is impenetrable. Her cousin, Sally, however, is obviously in love with Dave. Gerry Flemming, Talbot Henderson and Barbara Holworthy, Dave's former fiancée, visit him. Barbara is hostile toward the girls. Under cover of darkness, Dave leaves, with Gerry and Talbot, to even a score against Mueller, neighboring plantation owner, who in reality is Snatch Cazzoni, a bootlegger. Mueller tried to force his attentions upon Joan and also robbed Dave and destroyed his plane. Planning to steal Mueller's plane to replace Dave's, the boys come upon a hangar containing four planes, and also discover a liquor-cutting plant. Figures loom in the darkness. Dave grapples with the nearest one. It is Joan. Unable to resist, they kiss. Heedless of danger, the girls had followed but are ordered back. On the way, Barbara, in revenge, pretends to hear Dave calling Joan. Joan goes back in search of him accompanied only by her colored mammy. Mueller finds them. At the plantation, Sally and Talbot cannot understand Barbara's nervousness. Barbara, repentant, confesses to Sally. Gerry returns alone. He and Talbot go in search of Joan. Just then Dave soars overhead in a plane. Sally and Barbara motion frantically toward Mueller's, then join in the search. One of Mueller's men, clinging to the plane as Dave steals it, is pried loose.

CHAPTER XXX.
RELIEVED of its dragging burden, the monoplane leaped ahead. A jagged hole appeared in the wing just above Dave's forehead. He looked astern. The guard was kneeling, aiming for a second shot. Dave hunched his shoulders and waited. Too soon to pull the ship off. She'd just sag in the air and plunge into the trees. He'd just have to sit there and take it. The slugs from the shotgun snapped past like the cracking of a whiplash. The glass dial on the altimeter splintered into a thousand bits. Too close, that.

The plane's tail was up. The wheels were bouncing on the uneven ground with rapid-fire jolts. The black edge of the orange grove was rushing toward the ship like an express train. Dave pulled back on the joy stick. The bow rose instantly. The little ship shot upward at a dizzy angle, leaving the citrus groves far beneath her fat balloon tires. It thundered up through the night sky, a thing throbbing with life, alert, responsive to his slightest pressure on the controls.

Flying High.

He threw her over on her beam ends, gliding in the sudden lurch of the black-and-silver horizon beyond the stubby cylinders of the radial engine. Cutting a wide, swinging circle around the clearing, he stared down at the long apron of white light from the hangar door. The cool air swept back against his face in a steady, fluid-like stream which seemed to wash his brain clear of the turmoil that had possessed it these past few hours. It seemed to give strength to his battered muscles, to ease the aches which had racked him ever since Mueller had kicked him into unconsciousness three nights ago, that evening of his first dinner with Joan and Sally. He gulped deep of the sweet air, realizing how good it was to fly again.

Now he was hurtling straight over the parallelism of blackness that was the hangar roof. As he gazed down at the patch of light that spread out in front of it he suddenly stiffened in surprise. From the wide-mouthed entrance slid the whirling propeller and the flame-spitting engine of another plane, a duplicate of that in which he sat. So they were going to chase him, eh? He laughed aloud. It fitted in with his mood exactly. He'd give them a merry little whirl before he headed back toward the West Coast and civilization.

Peering Earthward.

But he must first signal to the girls, and to Gerry and Talbot. They would be worrying about him if he did not appear before long. And then the violent, adventure-loving Gerry would blunder off looking for him and probably bump straight into Mueller and his gang of professional thugs. So Dave turned southward and steered his ship over the precise rows of trees that glinted in the moonlight as if they were going to chase him, eh? He laughed aloud. It fitted in with his mood exactly. He'd give them a merry little whirl before he headed back toward the West Coast and civilization.

The monoplane hurdled the on-rushing road and pointed toward Cathy as if of its own volition. Across groves, scrubland and jungle it pounded, its throbbing engine in tune with Dave's thumping heart. Beneath the outstretched boughs of the trees were two long silvers of light, creeping ahead at a snail's pace. Then they were beneath the roaring plane. Beneath and astern. But between the interstices of the branches Dave had glimpsed but two heads in the front seat. Two heads instead of three. Where was Joan? It did not occur to him that Gerry or Talbot might be missing. Something told him that Joan was gone and he did not question his intuition.

Back To The Jungle.

Over there, to the left, was the gaunt skeleton of a huge, sprawling building. That, he decided was the unfinished hotel. Just beyond a long, single-storied structure faced a wide expanse of what might once have been golf links. Now the jungle was swallowing them up. The greens were covered by growing things, the hazards obliterated by the rank vegetation. On the other side of the country club was a block of stores. The steady light of the moon revealed their Spanish architecture and, too, their tileless roofs. Broken windows glittered from their facades; shattered glass winked up from the cabbage palms and palmettos that were growing through cracks in the sidewalk.

Here, a hundred yards to the right, was the little clump of houses where the liquor had been stored. Bright lights were darting about beneath the trees. Dave plummeted down on the jungle-submerged dwellings like an avenging angel. The irregular blotches of shadows were confusing. The beams of the flashlights started from nowhere and ended nowhere. He found his automatic—Joan's automatic—already in his hand. But how was he to know where to shoot? If Joan were somewhere down there his bullets might smash through her flesh and bone instead of finding their mark in the body of one of those cut-throat gangsters.

and Barbara standing there, their upturned faces pale white ovals in the moonlight. Their arms were rigidly outstretched, pointing down the road after the car which had vanished beneath the trees. Pointing toward Cathy. Sally and Barbara alone. Joan was not with them, nor Gerry, nor Talbot.

Dave saw a scraggy turpentine pine reaching up to spear the fragile wings of his thundering plane. Without conscious effort he threw his weight upon the controls, lifting her bow straight into the air like the head of a bucking broncho. The thought flashed through his mind that he had but one chance in a thousand of avoiding those skeleton-like branches. But in the next instant the little ship was clear, dragging her wheels through the outstretched twigs as she soared up to safety.

Around, then, back over the kumquat grove and the lawn, to be perfectly sure that Sally and Barbara were alone. Trees rushed beneath the wheels like a mighty ribbon of black and silver shadows. Dave did not see them. He saw only those two lonely girls, standing there in front of the house, still pointing toward Cathy.

The monoplane hurdled the on-rushing road and pointed toward Cathy as if of its own volition. Across groves, scrubland and jungle it pounded, its throbbing engine in tune with Dave's thumping heart. Beneath the outstretched boughs of the trees were two long silvers of light, creeping ahead at a snail's pace. Then they were beneath the roaring plane. Beneath and astern. CONSERVATION NEWS of OHIO STATE

POLICEMEN OF OHIO FARMERS
Few people realize the importance of the Division of Feeds and Fertilizers of the State Department of Agriculture. This division is charged with the enforcement of five regulatory laws: (1) The Feed stuffs law, (2) the fertilizer law, (3) the lime and limestone law, (4) the insecticide and fungicide law (5) the reduction plant law.

Chief of the Division, Bert V. Leas has five inspectors at his command. They are the policemen of Ohio Farmers. Four of these inspectors collect samples of feeds, fertilizers, agricultural limes and insecticides and insecticides, which are sold, or offered for sale, in this state. One inspector devotes his entire time to the inspection of reduction plants.

The samples collected by inspectors are sent to the State Board of Health Laboratory for analysis. These results are published semi-annually. Copy of this report will be mailed free on request. Address I. S. Guthery, Director, Department of Agriculture, Division of Feeds and Fertilizers, Columbus, Ohio.

JUNIOR FAIR WILL DISPLAY INSTITUTES POSTERS

Ohio had seven hundred Farmers' Institutes last winter. Over five hundred of these had posters on tests as a part of the regular institute program. Posters were made by students enrolled in local schools. They were placed on exhibition, at Institutes, and judged by competent judges.

The winning poster, in each contest, was sent to Columbus and entered in a state wide contest. More than two hundred prizes were awarded.

These prize winning posters, representing every county in Ohio, will be on display at the Ohio State Junior Fair, Columbus, August 31 to September 5.

GAME DISTRIBUTION MADE

The Ohio Department of Agriculture through the Conservation Council is interested in the propagation of wild life in Ohio. Rabbit hunters will watch with interest an experiment now being conducted. Two thousand, Kansas cotton tail rabbits have been purchased and distributed throughout the state. These rabbits are similar to the cotton tail rabbit of Ohio. It is hoped that through these rabbits, new blood may be injected in those native to this section.

As an additional experiment, two hundred coons were purchased from breeders and set free in a number of Ohio Counties. From reports reaching the Department it is evident that this distribution has been a success.

W. W. Ellenwood, Chief, Division of Plant Industry of the Ohio Department of Agriculture warns Ohio farmers that there is an unusually large amount of low grade agricultural seeds being sold in Ohio this year.

Much of this low grade seed is being delivered on orders by trucks from adjacent states, to escape the Ohio law. A great quantity is being sold by unscrupulous mail order seed houses who are advertising especially low prices on direct to consumer sale.

In most cases, the dealers have complied with the law as to labeling, purity and germination. Many farmers, however, consider only price in buying and pay no attention to analysis tags. This tag is important. It shows the purity of the seed, noxious weed content, germination test and date of test.

This spring, more than in recent years, farmers are trying to buy at reduced prices. Seed "scalpers" know this. They advertise low prices. Play safe. Buy seed from reliable Ohio dealers.

Bulletin No. 1 published by the Division of Plant Industry is now ready for distribution. Seeds collected by state inspectors were analyzed, by the State Seed Analyst, and the results are published in this bulletin. Copy of Bulletin No. 1, will be mailed on request. Address I. S. Guthery, Director of Agriculture, Division of Plant Industry, Columbus, O.

BOWL CONCERT ARTISTS
HOLLYWOOD.—Long distances are no deterrent to artists invited to take part in Hollywood Bowl concerts, it was pointed out by Glenn M. Tindell, Bowl manager. Europe and the eastern United States will supply most of the noted talent for the coming season of "Symphonies Under the Stars," he said. From England will come Sir Hamilton Harty, conductor of the famous Halle Orchestra, and from France, Pierre Monteux, noted French director. Harty and Monteux will conduct four of the eight weeks of concerts during the season opening on July 7. Other conductors will be Walter Damrosch, Arthur Rodzinski and Alfred Hertz.

Any member of the family of L. W. Culp, 229 Watt-st., is invited to be a guest of The Herald to the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

Control of Malaria A Victory for Science

This Disease, Known and Feared by the Ancients, Has Finally Been Conquered by Modern Medicine and Knowledge of Hygiene, Says Authority.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MALARIA is a disease which has been known to man since prehistoric times. There is every reason to believe that it was common long before the era of modern civilization. Hippocrates, "Father of Medicine," as early as the fifth century, B. C., gave an accurate description of this disease. Ancient Greek literature, extending from over 400 years B. C. to the 14th century, A. D., describes the disease in almost the identical terms used by Hippocrates.

About 1640, a marked change occurred in the history of malaria. This was brought about by the introduction in Europe of the cinchona plant. This plant gave to mankind the first remedy for the treatment and cure of malaria. In addition, it served as a means of differentiating malaria fever from other fevers. Later, it was discovered that the value of cinchona is really due to its quinine content.

In 1880, Laveran, a French army surgeon, discovered the cause of malaria. The malarial plasmodium, the parasite causing the disease, was now definitely known.

In 1898, Sir Ronald Ross definitely determined the mosquito to be the carrying agent. He demonstrated that man can become infected only by the bite of a mosquito, and that only a certain species of mosquito transmits the malarial parasite.

With eradication of the mosquito and its breeding places, isolation of malarial patients and adequate hygienic care, this disease is now completely controlled. This was aptly demonstrated by the building of the Panama Canal.

As you know, the French first attempted to build the Canal and failed. Fifty thousand men died in the Canal Zone from attacks of malaria and the project was abandoned.

The building of the Canal by the United States was made possible by the control of malaria. This was accomplished under the most capable direction of Dr. Gorgas. What he did for our knowledge of malaria, this Canal would never have been completed. With destruction of breeding places of the mosquito, removal of filth and unhygienic surroundings, screening of homes and isolation of infected men, the Canal was successfully completed.

Modern civilization and knowledge of medicine have accomplished what Hippocrates and the ancients strove for but failed to do. The story of malaria and mankind serves as one of the most striking examples of progress in the history of the world.

Advertise!

ROGER Babson, the business and financial forecaster, is a debatable figure in the world of finance and business. He has been in the business of making predictions in these fields for 30 years, has hit the nail on the head many times and has missed it on occasion, but the fact that he foretold the "Black October" stock crash and the present depression entitles him to a hearing when he now proposes a return to prosperity.

Speaking before the Advertising Federation of America, he "staked his reputation" on these predictions: That business has been its worst, that "a slow change is getting in the right direction, that in a reasonable time this country will again enter a period of marked prosperity," and that "now is the time to advertise."

He told the advertising men to go home and tell their merchants to advertise, giving their customers an opportunity to benefit from the current low prices, that the merchants may some day remember their good advice and be grateful.

Adequate, intelligent advertising is an expression of courage and of faith in the ability of the country to stage a come-back. It also gets the business. If there are people who have money to spend and are not spending it, it is because the proper advertising has not reached them. There is no sales resistance or parsimony advertising will not break down.

Press Wrecked Capone

THE defense is now having its day in court, and an absolute acquittal is assured. One witness has refuted the many who have appeared against the defendant. The case is that of the press, which stands charged with promoting lawlessness and crime by the publication of sensational crime news.

Oddly, it was none other than Al Capone, the notorious Chicago gangster and racketeer, who saved the day for the newspapers. Or rather the newspapers saved themselves by calling the gang leader as a witness in their behalf.

Why does Capone stand today a confessed violator of several federal laws, awaiting an inevitable penitentiary sentence? Because the front pages of the newspapers have been filled for months with the sensational stories of his operations. A public prosecutor puts it, the newspapers, merely by printing the crime news, shamed the officials into scattering the Capone gang and stripping its leader of his power.

Is there anyone so fatuous as to believe that Chicago would have routed the Thompson gang, depriving Capone of his political protection, or that the federal authorities would have stepped in to break the back of gangland, if there had not been crime news to present the shocking facts to the public and to place Chicago in national disgrace?

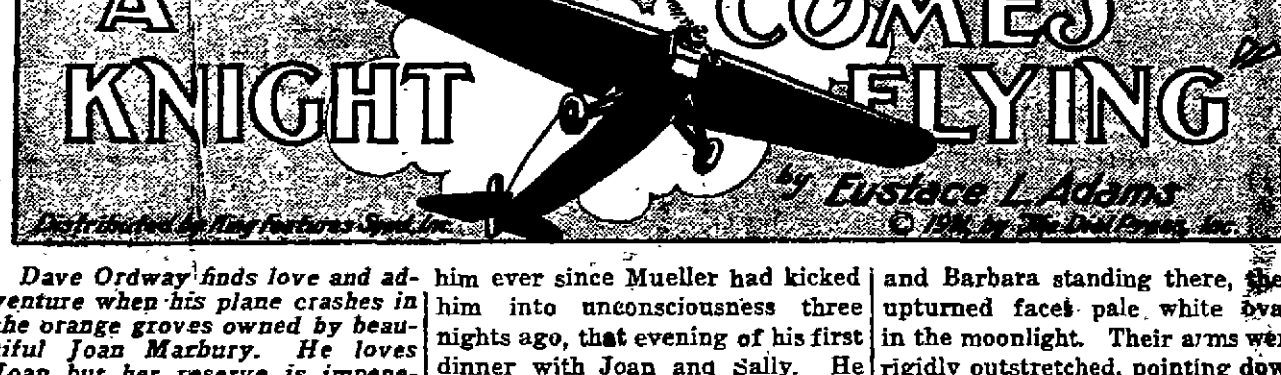

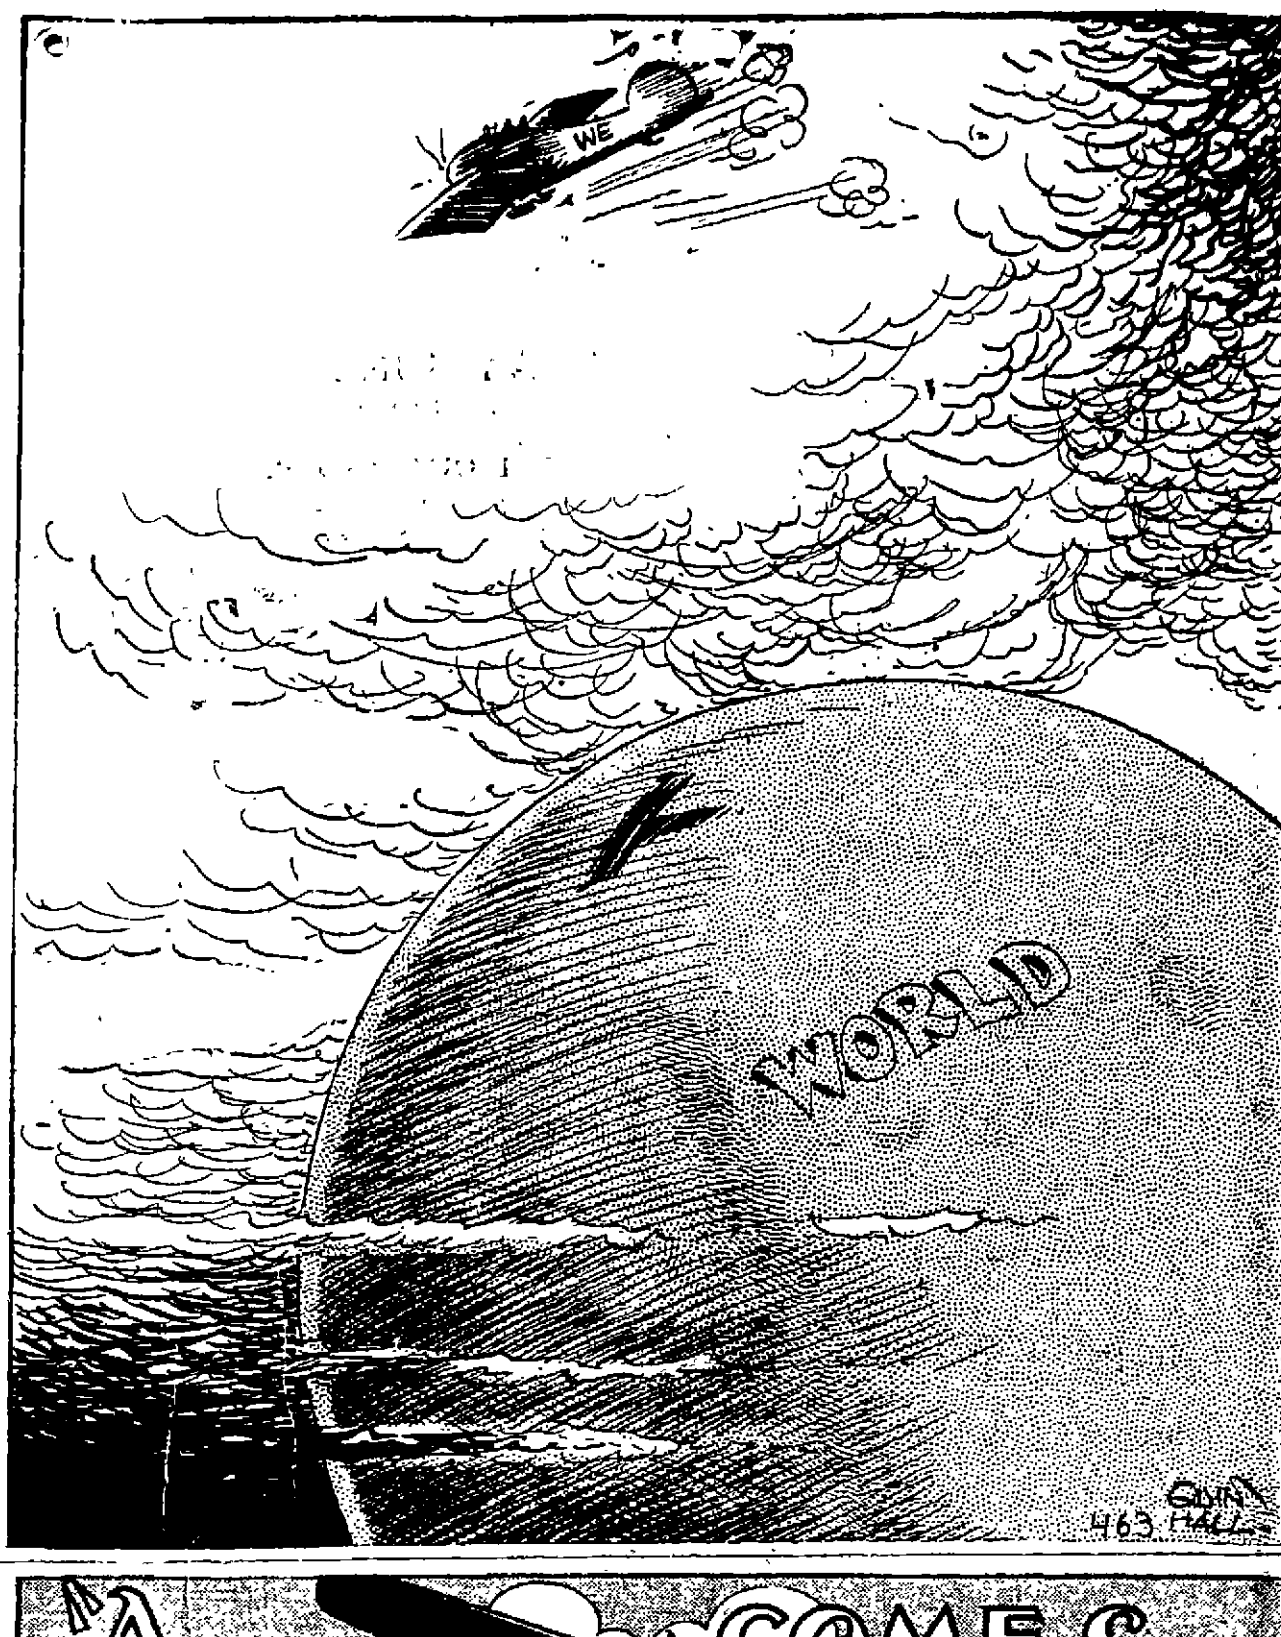

Individual Teaching

CRITICISM of the results of modern teaching has advanced in England to constructive experiment. Once the idea that the prevalent modern method might not be the last word in teaching gained hold, it was inevitable that other methods should be examined and tried.

Individual teaching is one substitute proposed in London. Instead of children being grouped by ages, class rooms may have children of all ages, according to their progress in that particular subject. In reading, for example, children are not limited to reading in class by turn, but are allotted certain amount of reading may do it at pleasure. This system is followed in other subjects. The form rooms are made into laboratories for each subject, and the pupils may elect to divide their time according to their needs. The results are reported to be instructive.

One value of the new plan is to develop a sense of personal effort and responsibility much greater than under the competitive class method. But the chief gain is the thoroughness attained. The children are taken out of the lock-step and liberated for self advancement.

THE LINDBERGH'S OPEN ROAD

Dave Ordway finds love and adventure when his plane crashes in the orange groves owned by beautiful Joan Marbury. He loves Joan but her reserve is impenetrable. Her cousin, Sally, however, is obviously in love with Dave. Gerry Flemming, Talbot Henderson and Barbara Holworthy, Dave's former fiancée, visit him. Barbara is hostile toward the girls. Under cover of darkness, Dave leaves, with Gerry and Talbot, to even a score against Mueller, neighboring plantation owner, who in reality is Snatch Casoni, a bootlegger. Mueller tried to force his attentions upon Joan and also robbed Dave and destroyed his plane. Planning to steal Mueller's plane to replace Dave's, the boys come upon a hangar containing four planes, and also discover a liquor-cutting plant. Figures loom in the darkness. Dave grapples with the nearest one. It is Joan. Unable to resist, they kiss. Headless of danger, the girls had followed but are ordered back. On the way, Barbara, in revenge, pretends to hear Dave calling Joan. Joan goes back in search of him accompanied only by her colored mammy. Mueller finds them. At the plantation, Sally and Talbot cannot understand Barbara's nervousness. Barbara, repentant, confesses to Sally. Gerry returns alone. He and Talbot go in search of Joan. Just then Dave soars overhead in a plane. Sally and Barbara motion frantically toward Mueller's, then join in the search. One of Mueller's men, clinging to the plane as Dave steals it, is puffed loose.

CHAPTER XXX.

RELIEVED of its dragging burden, the monoplane leaped ahead. A jagged hole appeared in the wing just above Dave's forehead. He looked astern. The guard was kneeling, aiming for a second shot. Dave hunched his shoulders and waited. Too soon to pull the ship off. She'd just sag in the air and pancake into the trees. He'd just have to sit there and take it. The slug from the shotgun snapped past like the cracking of a whip. The glass dial on the altimeter splintered into a thousand bits. Too close, that.

The plane's tail was up. The wheels were bouncing on the uneven ground with rapid-fire jolts. The black edge of the orange grove was rushing toward the ship like an express train. Dave pulled back on the joy stick. The bow rose instantly. The little ship shot upward at a dizzy angle, leaving the citrus groves far beneath her fat balloon tires. It thundered up through the night sky, a thing throbbing with life, alert, responsive to his slightest pressure on the controls.

Flying High.

He threw her over on her beam ends, glancing in the sudden lurch of the black-and-silver horizon beyond the stubby cylinders of the radial engine. Cutting a wide, swinging circle around the clearing, he stared down at the long apron of white light from the hangar door. The cool air swept back against his face in a steady, fluid-like stream which seemed to wash his brain clear of the turmoil that had possessed it these past few hours. It seemed to give strength to his battered muscles, to ease the aches which had racked him ever since Mueller had kicked him into unconsciousness three nights ago, that evening of his first dinner with Joan and Sally. He gulped deep of the sweet air, realizing how good it was to fly again.

Now he was hurtling straight over the parallelogram of blackness that was the hangar roof. As he gazed down at the patch of light that spread out in front of it, he suddenly stiffened in surprise. From the wide-mouthed entrance slid the whirling propeller and the flame-spitting engine of another plane, a duplicate of that in which he sat. So they were going to chase him, eh? He laughed aloud. It fitted in with his mood exactly. He'd give them a merry little whirl before he headed back toward the West Coast and civilization.

Peering Earthward.

But he must first signal to the girls, and to Gerry and Talbot. They would be worrying about him if he did not appear before long. And then the violent, adventure-loving Gerry would blunder off looking for him and probably bump straight into Mueller and his gang of professional thugs. So Dave turned southward and steered his ship over the precise rows of trees that glinted in the moonlight as if their leaves had been hammered out of coin silver. The dignified bulk of the old plantation house stood in the little clearing by the black ribbon of the county road, its lighted windows cheerful, warm and hospitable. He hoped that his friends would be on the front lawn where he could wave down at them and, perhaps, shout off his engine and shout to them to hurry on to St. Petersburg.

The thin beams of an automobile's headlights suddenly sprang into being directly in front of the house. That, he thought, would be Gerry's car, ready to start away. He hoped that the boys had persuaded Joan and Sally to go with them. But as his little plane fled over the groves he saw the headlights swirl around until they pointed back toward the abandoned village of Cathay. They slid ahead, passed along the uneven road and were extinguished by the overhanging boughs of trees as completely as if some invisible monster had gulped them down in one gargantuan mouthful.

Dave stared incredulously at the spot where the lights had been.

Why should a car be traveling toward Cathay instead of away from it? St. Petersburg was toward the west, not toward the east. Surely that could be no other car than Gerry's. He shoved forward on the control stick, nosing down into a long power-glide to increase his forward speed. Could it have been, he wondered anxiously, Mueller's truck taking the jostle out of his flank attack? Where, then, were Gerry and Talbot? Something was very wrong.

The roof of the old house swept up at the careening plane. The tires on the little wheels almost flicked the ridgepole. That dark spot beside the road was Joan's Ford. But the long, graceful Hispano-Suiza was not there. Dave almost jerked the joystick out of its socket as he whirled his ship around in a terrific vertical bank. There were two girls upon the lawn. They flashed beneath the cockpit, the warm glow from the lighted windows of the house outlining their figures clearly against the black earth. He saw Sally and Barbara standing there, their upturned faces pale, white ovals in the moonlight. Their arms were rigidly outstretched, pointing down the road after the car which had vanished beneath the trees. Pointing toward Cathay. Sally and Barbara alone. Joan was not with them, nor Gerry, nor Talbot.

Dave saw a strategy turning in his mind that he had but one chance in a thousand of avoiding those skeleton-like branches. But in the next instant the little ship was clear, dragging her wheels through the outstretched twigs as she soared up to safety.

Around, then, back over the kumquat grove and the lawn, to be perfectly sure that Sally and Barbara were alone. Trees rushed beneath the wheels like a mighty ribbon of black and silver shadows. Dave did not see them. He saw only those two lonely girls, standing there in front of the house. Still pointing toward Cathay.

The monoplane hurdled the on-rushing roof and pointed toward Cathay as if of its own volition. Across groves, scrubland and jungle it pounded, its throbbing engine in tune with Dave's thumping heart. Beneath the outstretched boughs of the trees were two long silvers of light, creeping ahead a snail's pace. Then they were beneath the roaring plane. Beneath and astern. But between the interstices of the branches Dave had glimpsed but two heads in the front seat. Two heads instead of three. Where was Joan? It did not occur to him that Gerry or Talbot might be missing. Something told him that Joan was gone and he did not question his intuition.

Back To The Jungle.

Over there, to the left, was the gaunt skeleton of a huge, sprawling building. That he decided was the unfinished hotel. Just beyond a long, single-storied structure faced a wide expanse of what might once have been golf links. Now the jungle was swallowing them up. The greens were covered by growing things, the hazards obliterated by the rank vegetation. On the other side of the country club was a block of stores. The steady light of the moon revealed their Spanish architecture and, too, their tileless roofs. Broken windows glittered from their facades; shattered glass winked up from the cabbage palms and palmettos that were growing through cracks in the sidewalk.

Here, a hundred yards to the right, was the little clump of houses where the liquor had been stored. Bright lights were darting about beneath the trees. Dave plummeted down on the jungle-submerged dwellings like an avenging angel. The irregular blotches of shadows were confusing. The beams of the flashlights started from nowhere and ended nowhere. He found his automatic—Joan's automatic—already in his hand. But how was he to know where to shoot? If Joan were somewhere down there his bullets might smash through her flesh and bone instead of finding their mark in the body of one of those cut-throat gangsters.

Conservation News of OHIO STATE

POLICEMEN OF OHIO FARMERS

Few people realize the importance of the Division of Feeds and Fertilizers of the State Department of Agriculture. This division is charged with the enforcement of five regulatory laws: (1) The Feed stuffs law, (2) the fertilizer law, (3) the lime and limestone law, (4) the insecticide and fungicide law (5) the reduction plant law.

Chief of the Division, Bert V. Leas has five inspectors at his command. They are the policemen of Ohio Farmers. Four of these inspectors collect samples of feeds, fertilizers, agricultural limes and insecticides and insecticides, which are sold, or offered for sale, in this state. One inspector devotes his entire time to the inspection of reduction plants.

The samples collected by inspectors are sent to the State Board of Health Laboratory for analysis. These results are published semi-annually. Copy of this report will be mailed free on request. Address I. S. Guthery, Director, Department of Agriculture, Division of Feeds and Fertilizers, Columbus, Ohio.

JUNIOR FAIR WILL DISPLAY INSTITUTE POSTERS

Ohio had seven hundred Farmers Institutes last winter. Over five hundred of these had posters contests as a part of the regular institute program. Posters were made by students enrolled in local schools. They were placed on exhibition at Institutes, and judged by competent judges.

The winning poster, in each contest, was sent to Columbus and entered in a state wide contest. More than two hundred prizes were awarded.

These prize winning posters, representing every county in Ohio, will be on display at the Ohio State Junior Fair, Columbus, August 31 to September 5.

GAME DISTRIBUTION MADE

The Ohio Department of Agriculture through the Conservation Council is interested in the propagation of wild life in Ohio. Rabbit hunters will watch with interest an experiment now being conducted. Two thousand, Kansas cotton tail rabbits have been purchased and distributed throughout the state. These rabbits are similar to the cotton tail rabbit of Ohio. It is hoped that through these rabbits, new blood may be injected in those native to this section.

As an additional experiment, two hundred coons were purchased from breeders and set free in a number of Ohio Counties. From reports reaching the Department it is evident that this distribution has been a success.

WARNING TO FARMERS

W. W. Ellenwood, Chief, Division of Plant Industry of the Ohio Department of Agriculture, warns Ohio farmers that there is an unusually large amount of low grade agricultural seeds being sold in Ohio this year.

Much of this low grade seed is being delivered on orders by trucks from adjacent states, to escape the Ohio law. A great quantity is being sold by unscrupulous mail order seed houses who are advertising especially low prices on direct to consumer sale.

In most cases, the dealers have complied with the law as to labeling, purity and germination. Many farmers, however, consider only price in buying and pay no attention to analysis tags. This tag is important. It shows the purity of the seed, noxious weed content, germination test and date of test. This spring, more than in recent years, farmers are trying to buy at reduced prices. Seed "scalpers" know this. They advertise low prices. Play safe. Buy seed from reliable Ohio dealers.

Bulletin No. 1 published by the Division of Plant Industry is now ready for distribution. Seeds collected by state inspectors were analyzed by the State Seed Analyst, and the results are published in this bulletin. Copy of Bulletin No. 1, will be mailed on request. Address I. S. Guthery, Director of Agriculture, Division of Plant Industry, Columbus, O.

BOWL CONCERT ARTISTS

HOLLYWOOD—Long distances are no deterrent to artists invited to take part in Hollywood Bowl concerts, it was pointed out by Glenn M. Tindall, Bowl manager. Europe and the eastern United States will supply most of the 'hot' talent for the coming season of "Symphonies Under the Stars," he said. From England will come Sir Hamilton Harty, conductor of the famous Halle Orchestra, and from France, Pierre Monteux, noted French director. Harty and Monteux will conduct four of the eight weeks of concerts during the season opening on July 7. Other conductors will be Walter Damrosch, Arthur Rodzinski and Alfred Hertz.

Any member of the family of L. W. Culp, 229 Watt-st., is invited to be a guest of The Herald at the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

Control of Malaria A Victory for Science

This Disease, Known and Feared by the Ancients, Has Finally Been Conquered by Modern Medicine and Knowledge of Hygiene, Says Authority.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MALARIA is a disease which has been known to man since prehistoric times.

There is every reason to believe that it was common long before the era of modern civilization. Hippocrates, "Father of Medicine," as early as the fifth century, B. C., gave an accurate description of this disease. Ancient Greek literature, extending from over 400 years B. C. to the 14th century A. D., describes the disease in almost the identical terms used by Hippocrates.

About 1640, a marked change occurred in the history of malaria. This was brought about by the introduction in Europe of the cinchona plant. This plant gave to mankind the first remedy for the treatment and cure of malaria. In addition, it served as a means of differentiating malaria fever from other fevers. Later, it was discovered that the value of cinchona is really due to its quinine content.

In 1880, Laveran, a French army surgeon, discovered the cause of malaria. The malarial parasite causing the disease is now definitely known.

In 1898, Sir Ronald Ross definitely determined the mosquito to be the carrying agent. He demonstrated that man can become infected only by the bite of a mosquito, and that only a certain species of mosquito transmits the malarial parasite.

With eradication of the mosquito and the breeding places, isolation of malarial patients and adequate hygienic care, this disease is now completely controlled. This was aptly demonstrated by the building of the Panama Canal.

As you know, the French first attempted to build the Canal and failed. Fifty thousand men died in the Canal Zone from attacks of malaria and the project was abandoned.

The building of the Canal by the United States was made possible by the control of malaria. This was accomplished under the most capable direction of Dr. Gorgas. Where this Canal would never have been completed. With destruction of breeding places of the mosquito, removal of filth and unhygienic surroundings, screening of homes and isolation of infected men, the Canal was successfully completed.

Modern civilization and knowledge of medicine have accomplished what Hippocrates and the ancients strove for but failed to do. The story of malaria and its marking as one of the most striking examples of progress in the history of the world.

AT THE GRAND

When the rhythm of the dance weaves its spell over two beautiful women and embroils a sentimental sweetheart and a ne'er-do-well son of wealth, dramatic intensity is sure to follow.

This situation in the Fox Movie-ton version of the famous stage play, "The Dancers," featuring Lois Moran, which will be shown at the Grand Theatre beginning Thursday comes at the climax of the picture when Phillips Holmes engages Walter Byron, the ne'er-do-well, in a battle over Lois' affections.

Their struggle over this girl temporarily blinded by the pleasures of gay night life and dancing, is brought to vivid contrast by the pathetic plight of Mrs. Clark who, as a professional dancer, is forced to look on while the boy she loves is made a fool of by Lois' selfish behavior.

MORE FINANCE, NOT LESS IS ASKED BY UNIVERSITIES

COLUMBUS, O., June 23.—A militant senate finance committee today prepared to clash with the house of representatives over the latter's demand that salaries and wages be cut 10 per cent at all state-supported colleges and universities.

Leading the committee out of the wilderness of confusion, Chairman Robert L. Rohe, (R) of Tiffin last night submitted a plan by which the house scheme would be discarded.

Presented after a long hearing in which presidents of the five state educational institutions appeared to charge the house with "discrimination," the Rohe plan found almost immediate approval by the senate committee.

In brief the Rohe plan aims to add to the amount allowed the five schools by the house barely enough money to permit the employment of teaching staffs on the same basis as in the past biennium.

At Ohio State, Miami and Ohio Universities, and Kent State and Bowling Green colleges the amount to be allowed for "personal service" would be 8 1/2 per cent less than provided in the Cooper budget but much more than was asked in the bill which recently passed the house.

By Senator Rohe's suggestion the five institutions would be given back $470,000 taken from them by the house, distributed as follows: Ohio State $200,000; Miami, $127,000; Ohio University $60,000; Kent State, $54,000; Bowling Green $36,000.

While "certain adjustments" might have to be made, in general the passages of the Rohe plan would spare colleges and universities of the necessity of ordering a horizontal salary cut, administrators said.

The proportionate increase suggested by Rohe followed a long questioning of President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State University.

Ohio State will need $200,000 in addition to the $6,131,530 provided in the house bill for salaries and wages, Dr. Rightmire said. He said the school would be badly crippled without that sum.

Pointing out that the total would then be about 8 1/2 per cent less than the amount recommended by Former Governor Cooper, Senator Rohe suggested that the sum for other schools be reached by reducing their Cooper budget items by the same per cent.

The result, it was learned, would be: Ohio University $1,179,000; Miami, $1,134,000; Bowling Green, $570,400; and Kent State, $636,889. Members of the senate finance committee appeared willing to reverse the house plan after listening to addresses by visiting presidents, who presented their objections.

"A loss in the spirit and a breaking down of the morale of the faculty and whole school will result," said Dr. J. O. Engelman, president of Kent State, warned the committee.

Dr. Engleman said that Kent State, like Ohio State, has had a tremendous increase in enrollment and that additional, instead of less, money is needed to carry on the school's work.

H. B. Williams, president of Bowling Green college, also sounded a note of caution.

"It is impossible to administer under decent standards of education with the sums of money you propose to give us," he said. Rohe's plan, the Tiffin senator said, "probably will prevent increases in staffs such as are needed to care for increases in enrollment, but it will prevent salary cuts."

As a result of the acceptance by the committee of the Rohe plan the education item of the state budget probably will have to be sent to a conference committee of the two houses in an attempt to iron out the differences in opinion of the two branches.

ROSE GARDENS ARE HIT BY WEATHER

During hot summer weather roses in the home garden require considerable care, according to Alex Laurie, professor of floriculture at the Ohio State University, who says that a 2-inch mulch on the beds will help to check weeds and to conserve soil moisture.

Roses should not be allowed to go to seed, he believes. As the flowers fade it is best to cut them off, but at least three leaves should be left at the bottom of each shoot which will provide a sufficient number of buds for future development and new flowers.

This is especially true with hybrid teas and tea roses. Budded and grafted roses tend to throw wild suckers from under the bottom or graft, especially if the roses are planted too shallow. It is best, Laurie states, to examine all rose plants frequently and if any of these suckers appear they should be clipped off. They may be recognized by their light green coloration and the appearance of 7 to 9 leaflets instead of the usual five of the hybrid kinds. If the season is fairly cool and wet, mildew and black spot are almost sure to make their appearance. A very satisfactory method of control, he believes, is found in the use of sulphur dust of manganar dust which should be applied at regular weekly intervals. Such frequent applications will serve as a preventive if not as a cure.

they made rapid gains. If oats are used in the grain mixture, they should not exceed more than 25 per cent of the total grain ration for fattening hogs. Barley probably should not exceed 50 to 60 per cent of the grain ration.

The trinity mixture which consists of 50 per cent tankage, 25 linseed oil meal, 25 per cent alfalfa meal, has been found to produce good results, he asserts. Unless this mixture is fed, it is a good idea to use two or more kinds of the protein feeds instead of one. One of them should be either tankage or one of the milk products. Cottonseed meal probably should not exceed 12 to 15 per cent of the total grain ration. It is good to feed soybeans if they are grown on the farm, but the best results will be obtained when some animal protein is also fed as a part of the protein supply.

Women may have the most sense, but it takes a man to marry one.

Potato yields in 19 states promise to be 9 per cent larger than last year and 12 per cent above the five-year average.

It seems the characters who are shot for 'knowing too much' seldom betray it in a police photograph.

A generation is rapidly growing to manhood in this country that never heard "coupe" pronounced coo-pay.

3 GOLFERS PLAYING TIE

Denny Shute, Cuici and Walsh Meet For Fourth Ryder Cup Team Berth.

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, COLUMBUS, O., June 24—With Billy Burke's whistling 289 before them as proof that these narrow fairways and nature-made hazards can be mastered, three young professionals today started an 18-hole play-off to decide whom shall fill the last of the four vacancies on the American Ryder Cup golf team.

One swing over par but four strokes better than Bobby Jones when he captured the National open over this simple but treacherous layout in 1926, Burke, the Greenwich, Conn., wizard, led the field home yesterday and took the No. 1 vacancy.

Trailing by five strokes was Willy Cox of Brooklyn, who was overtaken by Burke at the 54-hole mark yesterday and badly overwhelmed in their duel for the leadership over the final 18. The No. 3 place went to Craig Wood of Buffalo who, with 299, was five cuts away from Cox.

All even with 302's, Densmore Shute of Cleveland, Henry Cuici of Bridgeport, Conn., and Frank Walsh of Chicago were ordered by Walter Hagen, captain of the American team, to battle it out for the fourth place in as additional 18 holes.

After they finish, the winner and Burke, Cox and Wood will join Hagen, Leo Diegel, Al Espinosa, Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell and Horton Smith and begin practice rounds in preparation for the two-day clash with the British Ryder Cup team over this course Friday and Saturday.

For Ohio's only hope in this tournament—Denny Shute—a seven on the par-four 12th hole on the last round almost definitely eliminated him from consideration.

Off to a 35 on the first nine, Shute went wild into the rough on No. 12 and was forced to accept a 40 on the homeward nine. The 75 total barely allowed him to crowd in with Walsh and Cuici in a tie for fourth.

Rising to the emergency, Walsh got the 34 he needed on the last nine to keep astride of Cuici, with whom he had battled throughout. One of the tournament's disappointments was Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., who won the Western Open at Dayton last week. With 303's, Dudley, Olin Dutra of Greenwood, Cal., Joe Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., and Willie Klein of New York had one stroke too many to qualify.

Charley Hildgander, with 313, was the high score. The Detroit pro finished a notch behind Al Watrous, also of Detroit, who had 305.

Off to a 35 on the first nine, Shute went wild into the rough on No. 12 and was forced to accept a 40 on the homeward nine. The 75 total barely allowed him to crowd in with Walsh and Cuici in a tie for fourth.

Rising to the emergency, Walsh got the 34 he needed on the last nine to keep astride of Cuici, with whom he had battled throughout. One of the tournament's disappointments was Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., who won the Western Open at Dayton last week. With 303's, Dudley, Olin Dutra of Greenwood, Cal., Joe Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., and Willie Klein of New York had one stroke too many to qualify.

Charley Hildgander, with 313, was the high score. The Detroit pro finished a notch behind Al Watrous, also of Detroit, who had 305.

Denny Shute, Cuici and Walsh Meet For Fourth Ryder Cup Team Berth.

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, COLUMBUS, O., June 24—With Billy Burke's whistling 289 before them as proof that these narrow fairways and nature-made hazards can be mastered, three young professionals today started an 18-hole play-off to decide whom shall fill the last of the four vacancies on the American Ryder Cup golf team.

One swing over par but four strokes better than Bobby Jones when he captured the National open over this simple but treacherous layout in 1926, Burke, the Greenwich, Conn., wizard, led the field home yesterday and took the No. 1 vacancy.

Trailing by five strokes was Willy Cox of Brooklyn, who was overtaken by Burke at the 54-hole mark yesterday and badly overwhelmed in their duel for the leadership over the final 18. The No. 3 place went to Craig Wood of Buffalo who, with 299, was five cuts away from Cox.

All even with 302's, Densmore Shute of Cleveland, Henry Cuici of Bridgeport, Conn., and Frank Walsh of Chicago were ordered by Walter Hagen, captain of the American team, to battle it out for the fourth place in as additional 18 holes.

After they finish, the winner and Burke, Cox and Wood will join Hagen, Leo Diegel, Al Espinosa, Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell and Horton Smith and begin practice rounds in preparation for the two-day clash with the British Ryder Cup team over this course Friday and Saturday.

For Ohio's only hope in this tournament—Denny Shute—a seven on the par-four 12th hole on the last round almost definitely eliminated him from consideration.

HELPS HORSES AND DOGS

DENVER.—The Colorado State Bureau of Child and Animal Protection, utilizing funds left by the late Fred H. Forrester, Denver insurance man, for increasing the comfort of dumb animals throughout the state, will soon construct four horse and dog drinking troughs in Denver. Forrester left an estate valued at between $100,000 and $150,000, the bulk of which was to be used to provide comfort for dumb animals. The drinking troughs are to be placed at points where the truck farmers enter the city when driving to market.

The man who is out of harmony with his relatives probably has either money or a bad disposition.

TRICKS of MAGIC
EXPLAINED by Will L. Lindhorst

HOW TO DIP HAND INTO WATER AND TAKE IT OUT DRY

Here is one that Ripley has missed in his Balloons It or Not column. It is possible to dip a hand into a bowl of water and take it out dry. The secret is that the hand is rubbed thoroughly with amorphous zinc powder, which prevents water from clinging to the hand.

DOUBLEHEADERS ARE BUGABOO IN LIFE OF MACK'S ATHLETICS

Grove Hurls Two Hit Contest But Three Tossers Are Not Effective in Nightcap; Pitchers Have Day With Hudlin Turning in One-Hit Affair and Red Lucas Granting Only Three Bingles.

NEW YORK, June 24.—If Connie Mack's Athletics fail to win their third straight pennant this season, the cause can be traced to the strain put on the club's pitching staff by double-headers.

When Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg are available for mound work, a ball game is duck soup for the A's six times out of seven. But as the season progresses and double headers pile up, the well-balanced Washington pitching staff will enjoy a growing advantage over Mack's three-star hurling corps.

This was illustrated yesterday when the Mackmen had to be content with an even break in two games with St. Louis. Grove's two-hit victory over the Browns in the opener, was one of the pitching masterpieces of the year. But in the nightcap Mack had to call upon "the gang"—Mahaffey, McDonald and Rommel. This trio was unable to hold the Browns, who took a 5 to 4 decision on Schulte's hit in the 12th.

Washington advanced to within 2½ games of the league leaders by shelling Detroit twice, 10 to 3 and 4 to 0. After blanking the Nats for nine innings in the second game, George Uhle blew up in the 10th and yielded four runs. Marberry pitched against him for nine innings.

The Yankees came to life and two-timed the White Sox, 8 to 6 and 9 to 4. Babe Ruth hit his 14th homer in the opener. Ed Wells, making his first start in some time, was the winning pitcher in the nightcap.

Ben Chapman, fleet Yankee outfielder, plucked three bases and now has 26 stolen sacks to his credit. It took Marty McManus, American League leader in this specialty in 1930, all season to steal 23 bases.

Red Men Drub Bottlers, 16-5

Puddin Oliver had one of his good days Tuesday and as a result the Coca Colas went down to defeat before the Red Men, 16-5. The Red Men hopped on the Coca Colas in the first frame for seven runs and came back in the third with four more to cinch the game. They scored in each of the remaining innings except the fourth while the pop-shoppers were able to tally in but three frames, getting three of their markers in the second session.

The Red Men counted 14 hits including a triple and two doubles and took advantage of nine Coca Cola errors.

This evening the Coca Colas and the Independent Grocers will meet at Utilities field.

NOTRE DAME'S COACH IS ILL

Hunk Anderson Taken To Mayo Clinic Suffering Sinus Trouble, Breakdown.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Hearty "Hunk" Anderson who succeeded Knute Rockne as football coach at Notre Dame today was enroute to the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., suffering from a severe attack of sinus trouble and a nervous breakdown.

He was taken from train to train in Chicago on a wheel chair and showed the signs of his illness in sharply drawn lines on his face and a 14 pound weight reduction in the last five days.

It was said that Anderson had been treated daily for five weeks but had concealed his illness until spring training practice was completed at Notre Dame. Since last Thursday he has been confined to his bed.

His trip to Rochester was advised by Dr. John Mohardt who played halfback on the 1921 Irish eleven that Anderson starred on as guard.

It was recalled that Rockne returned from the same hospital about 15 months ago recovering from a leg infection that forced him out of part of the 1929 season.

FIGHT CARD IS ARRANGED

Russ Elliott and Jimmy Jones To Battle in Everts' Main Event.

A fight card in which Russ Elliott of Logan, and Jimmy Jones of Columbus, will tangle at 126 and 128 pounds in the main-go, has been announced by the management of the Everts arena co., to be staged there Thursday evening.

This bout is scheduled for eight rounds but if one of the two lads gets the right kind of blow in before the match has progressed this far, a premature conclusion will probably be the result.

The entire card is about lined up but the name of the principals have not yet been disclosed.

Red Men Drub Bottlers, 16-5

Fuddin Oliver had one of his good days Tuesday and as a result the Coca Colas went down to defeat before the Red Men, 16-5. The Red Men bopped on the Coca Colas in the first frame for seven runs and came back in the third with four more to cinch the game.

They scored in each of the remaining innings except the fourth while the pop-shoppers were able to tally in but three frames, getting three of their markers in the second session.

The Red Men counted 14 hits including a triple and two doubles and took advantage of nine Coca Cola errors.

This evening the Coca Colas and the Independent Grocers will meet at Utilities field.

NOTRE DAME'S COACH IS ILL

Hunk Anderson Taken To Mayo Clinic Suffering Sinus Trouble, Breakdown.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Hearty "Hunk" Anderson who succeeded Knute Rockne as football coach at Notre Dame today was enroute to the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., suffering from a severe attack of sinus trouble and a nervous breakdown.

He was taken from train to train in Chicago on a wheel chair and showed the signs of his illness in sharply drawn lines on his face and a 14 pound weight reduction in the last five days.

It was said that Anderson had been treated daily for five weeks but had concealed his illness until spring training practice was completed at Notre Dame. Since last Thursday he has been confined to his bed.

His trip to Rochester was advised by Dr. John Mohardt who played halfback on the 1921 Irish eleven that Anderson starred on as guard.

It was recalled that Rockne returned from the same hospital about 15 months ago recovering from a leg infection that forced him out of part of the 1929 season.

FIGHT CARD IS ARRANGED

Russ Elliott and Jimmy Jones To Battle in Everts' Main Event.

A fight card in which Russ Elliott of Logan, and Jimmy Jones of Columbus, will tangle at 126 and 128 pounds in the main-go, has been announced by the management of the Everts arena co. to be staged there Thursday evening.

This bout is scheduled for eight rounds but if one of the two lads gets the right kind of blow in before the match has progressed this far, a premature conclusion will probably be the result.

The entire card is about lined up but the name of the principals have not yet been disclosed.

PLANES TO COMPETE

CLEVELAND, O.—Four squadrons of the First Pursuit group and two full squadrons from at least one other army air group will participate in the National Air Races at Cleveland airport August 29 to September 7, it has been announced here.

Clifford W. Henderson, managing director of the races, said that the famous stunt squadron from Selfridge Field, Michigan, will, also, be at the field during the events and will go through their paces daily.

3 GOLFERS PLAYING TIE

Denny Shute, Cuici and Walsh Meet For Fourth Ryder Cup Team Berth.

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, COLUMBUS, O., June 24—With Billy Burke's whistling 289 before them as proof that these narrow fairways and nature-made hazards can be mastered, three young professionals today started an 18-hole play-off to decide whom shall fill the last of the four vacancies on the American Ryder Cup golf team.

One swing over par but four strokes better than Bobby Jones when he captured the National open over this simple but treacherous layout in 1926, Burke, the Greenwich, Conn., wizard, led the field home yesterday and took the No. 1 vacancy.

Trailing by five strokes was Wiffy Cox of Brooklyn, who was overtaken by Burke at the 54-hole mark yesterday and badly overwhelmed in their duel for the leadership over the final 16. The No. 3 place went to Craig Wood of Buffalo who, with 299, was five cuts away from Cox.

All even with 302's, Densmore Shute of Cleveland, Henry Cuici of Bridgeport, Conn., and Frank Walsh of Chicago were ordered by Walter Hagen, captain of the American team, to battle it out for the fourth place in an additional 18 holes.

After they finish, the winner and Burke, Cox and Wood will join Hagen, Leo Diegel, Al Espinosa, Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell and Horton Smith and begin practice rounds in preparation for the two-day clash with the British Ryder Cup team over this course Friday and Saturday.

For Ohio's only hope in this tournament—Denny Shute—a seven on the par-four 12th hole on the last round almost definitely eliminated him from consideration.

Off to a 35 on the first nine, Shute went wild into the rough on No. 12 and was forced to accept a 40 on the homeward nine. The 75 total barely allowed him to crowd in with Walsh and Cuici in a tie for fourth.

Rising to the emergency, Walsh got the 34 he needed on the last nine to keep astride of Cuici, with whom he had battled throughout.

One of the tournament's disappointments was Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., who won the Western Open at Dayton last week. With 303's, Dudley, Olin Dutra of Greenwood, Cal., Joe Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., and Willie Klein of New York had one stroke too many to qualify.

Charley Hildenger, with 313, was the high score. The Detroit pro finished a notch behind Al Watrous, also of Detroit, who had 305.

HELPS HORSES AND DOGS

DENVER—The Colorado State Bureau of Child and Animal protection, utilizing funds left by the late Fred H. Forrester, Denver insurance man, for increasing the comfort of dumb animals throughout the state, will soon construct four horse and dog drinking troughs in Denver. Forrester left an estate valued at between $100,000 and $150,000, the bulk of which was to be used to provide comfort for dumb animals. The drinking troughs are to be placed at points where the truck farmers enter the city when driving to market.

The man who is out of harmony with his relatives probably has either money or a bad disposition.

RECIAT LAUDED BY CHILICOTHEANS

The following comments on Circleville social persons in the recital given in the First Presbyterian church in Chillicothe, Monday evening by the students of Mrs. Dolores Maxwell were taken from the Chillicothe Scioto Gazette:

"Miss Eleanor Snyder was heard in 'Mi chiamano Mimì' from 'La Bohème'. Puccini. 'Contemplation' by Widor, and 'O del mio Amato Ben.' Donaudy. Her soprano voice is outstanding in tonal quality, range and power, to which she brings dramatic understanding and she will go far in music with the continued application shown in her work last night.

"The climax of the evening came in the presentation of Schubert's beautiful romantic cantata, 'Rosamunde,' by a double quartet of mixed voices, in an arrangement by Gottfried Federlin, the text by Frederick H. Martens.

The singers sang with a sureness, style and beauty surprising even to those who knew their ability. The harmonies were thrillingly achieved, the tonal qualities being especially lovely in the solo parts of each voice."

The sopranos were Annette Groce Will and Helen E. Marion, the contraltos, Mrs. James P. Moffitt, and Mrs. Dolores Maxwell, the tenors George P. Thompson and Melvin Yates, basses Thomas Giles and Leslie Gatwood. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke was accompanist in the intricate, colorful piano score.

The singers from Circleville were entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Maxwell following the recital.

CHILICOTHE COUPLE DROWN

William Harvey, 47, Fails In Attempt to Save Life of Wife, Aged 17.

CHILICOTHE, O., June 24—After an unsuccessful effort to rescue his 17-year-old wife, William Harvey, 47, was dead here today from drowning.

Harvey rushed to his wife's aid when she was swept off her feet by the swift current in the Scioto river at Eggewater, near here.

Harvey, only a fair swimmer, leaped into the water while still clothed but drowned almost as he reached Mrs. Harvey and Dennis Burton, Harvey's brother-in-law, who also was trying to save the woman.

Burton, who had gone down twice, reached a boat and saved himself after the other two had disappeared.

AID FOR NEEDY WILL CONTINUE

Benevolent Association Social Worker Makes Report; Many Articles Needed

The need of continuous work of the Circleville Benevolent association was demonstrated by the third monthly report of Miss Clara Southward, social service worker, given at the June meeting of the organization.

She reported 22 cases open for relief, 11 cases for friendly service only, food given to seven families, clothing to 20, 86 office interviews, 137 calls and 36 phone calls.

The association voted to discontinue meeting through the summer months, authorizing the board to transact any business.

An appreciation of the assistance given by The Circleville Herald in promoting the work was unanimously voted.

On recommendation of Miss Charlotte Phelps, city health nurse, the association voted to furnish milk to several tuberculosis patients. That an effort be made to raise funds for a booth at the Pumpkin Show was recommended to the board. It was voted to discontinue sewing classes through July.

Miss Southward reported the need of clothing, shoes and household furnishings. The specific needs are clothing for a seven-months-old child and a six-year-old boy, bed and mattress, sadirons, chairs, window shades and wall paper.

THAT business today is organized for the purpose of meeting and satisfying the wants of all the people.

Business not organized to do this needs working over.

When a business does not function properly and is in the dumps, it needs to be awakened.

Advertising with its great pulling and boosting power will do much to get any business out of the dumps.

There is no question but that the least expensive and most effective way to revive a business is by the right kind of advertising.

If "can't be done" are words that should be forgotten. There are men everywhere every day doing things that some people think can't be done. If it needs to be done it can be done.

When a business feels it must be done, then is the time to increase advertising.

A lot of business concerns are always waiting until they think conditions are right. In their way of thinking, right conditions never come.

CONDITIONS ARE ALWAYS FAVORABLE FOR GOOD ADVERTISING. ADVERTISING IS NECESSARY IN EVERY BUSINESS.

Mrs. Anna DePue has returned to her home in Parkersburg, W. Va., after attending the Kenny-Jacob wedding and visiting Mrs. W. G. Jacob, W. Mound-st.

Dan Cupid's Labors Show Decrease In Pickaway-co

The work of Dan Cupid in Pickaway-co during 1930 showed a decrease of 20 marriage in comparison with the previous year, according to a report issued by the Bureau of Census, Washington, D. C. In 1930 there were 229 marriages performed in the county, while in 1929 the report shows 249.

The report disclosed that the number of divorces in the county is also on the decrease, there being a drop off of three during 1930, compared to the previous year. Thirty-five couples decided to part during 1930, while in 1929, thirty-eight concluded that they could not peacefully live together. There was also one annulment of a marriage in the county in 1929, while the 1930 report did not show any.

There were 60,330 marriages performed in Ohio during 1930, as compared with 65,679 in 1929, representing a decrease of 5,349 of 8.1 per cent. Cuyahoga-co was listed as the county having the largest number of marriages, where 12,295 were performed in 1930 in comparison with 12,255 in 1929. Fairfield-co had 282 in 1930 and 314 in 1929; Fayette-co was among the few counties to increase having 187 in 1930 as compared to 162 the previous year; Franklin-co was also on the 'drop off' list, with 3,383 listed in 1930 and 3,680 in 1929; Hocking-co listed 168 in 1930 and 188 in 1929; Madison-co was lower with 152 in 1930 and 171 in the previous year and Ross-co showed very little variance in the two years, listing 261 in 1930 and 263 in 1929.

The number of marriages performed was reported by the clerk of the probate court of each county, and the number of divorces granted by the clerk of courts of each county.

RECITAL LAUDED BY CHILlicotheANS

The following comments on Circleville social persons in the recital given in the First Presbyterian church in Chillicothe, Monday evening by the students of Mrs. Dolores Maxwell were taken from the Chillicothe Scioto Gazette:

"Miss Eleanor Snyder was heard in 'Mi chiamano Mimì,' from 'La Bohème,' Puccini, 'Contemplation' by Widor, and 'O del mio Amato Ben,' Donaudy. Her soprano voice is outstanding in tonal quality, range and power, to which she brings dramatic understanding and she will go far in music with the continued application shown in her work last night.

"The climax of the evening came in the presentation of Schubert's beautiful romantic cantata, 'Rosamunde,' by a double quartet of mixed voices, in an arrangement by Gottfried Federlin, the text by Frederick H. Martens.

The singers sang with a sureness, style and beauty surprising even to those who knew their ability. The harmonies were thrillingly achieved, the tonal qualities being especially lovely in the solo parts of each voice."

The sopranos were Annette Groce Will and Helen B. Marion, the contraltos, Mrs. James P. Moffitt, and Mrs. Dolores Maxwell, the tenors George P. Thompson and Melvin Yates, basses Thomas Giles and Leslie Gatwood. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke was accompanist in the intricate, colorful piano score.

The singers from Circleville were entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Maxwell following the recital.

CHILlicothe COUPLE DROWN

William Harvey, 47, Fails In Attempt to Save Life of Wife, Aged 17.

CHILlicothe, O., June 24—After an unsuccessful effort to rescue his 17-year-old wife, William Harvey, 47, was dead here today from drowning.

Harvey rushed to his wife's aid when she was swept off her feet by the swift current in the Scioto river at Eggewater, near here.

Harvey, only a fair swimmer, leaped into the water while still clothed but drowned almost as he reached Mrs. Harvey and Dennis Burton, Harvey's brother-in-law, who also was trying to save the woman.

Burton, who had gone down twice, reached a boat and saved himself after the other two had disappeared.

AID FOR NEEDY WILL CONTINUE

Benevolent Association Social Worker Makes Report; Many Articles Needed

The need of continuous work of the Circleville Benevolent association was demonstrated by the third monthly report of Miss Clara Southward, social service worker, given at the June meeting of the organization.

She reported 22 cases open for relief, 11 cases for friendly service only, food given to seven families, clothing to 20, 86 office interviews, 137 calls and 36 phone calls.

The association voted to discontinue meeting through the summer months, authorizing the board to transact any business.

An appreciation of the assistance given by The Circleville Herald in promoting the work was unanimously voted.

On recommendation of Miss Charlotte Phelps, city health nurse, the association voted to furnish milk to several tuberculosis patients. That an effort be made to raise funds for a booth at the Pumpkin Show was recommended to the board. It was voted to discontinue sewing classes through July.

Miss Southward reported the need of clothing, shoes and household furnishings. The specific needs are clothing for a seven-months-old child and a six-year-old boy, bed and mattress, sadirons, chairs, window shades and wall paper.

THAT business today is organized for the purpose of meeting and satisfying the wants of all the people.

Business not organized to do this needs working over.

When a business does not function properly and is in the dumps, it needs to be awakened.

Advertising with its great pulling and boosting power will do much to get any business out of the dumps.

There is no question but that the least expensive and most effective way to revive a business is by the right kind of advertising.

It "can't be done" are words that should be forgotten. There are men everywhere every day doing things that some people think can't be done. If it needs to be done it can be done.

When a business feels it must be done, then is the time to increase advertising.

A lot of business concerns are always waiting until they think conditions are right. In their way of thinking, right conditions never come.

CONDITIONS ARE ALWAYS FAVORABLE FOR GOOD ADVERTISING. ADVERTISING IS NECESSARY IN EVERY BUSINESS.

Mrs. Anna DePue has returned to her home in Parkersburg, W. Va., after attending the Kenny-Jacob wedding and visiting Mrs. W. G. Jacob, W. Mound-st.

Dan Cupid's Labors Show Decrease In Pickaway-co

The work of Dan Cupid in Pickaway-co during 1930 showed a decrease of 20 marriage in comparison with the previous year, according to a report issued by the Bureau of Census, Washington, D. C. In 1930 there were 229 marriages performed in the county, while in 1929 the report shows 249.

The report disclosed that the number of divorces in the county is also on the decrease, there being a drop off of three during 1930, compared to the previous year.

Thirty-five couples decided to part during 1930, while in 1929, thirty-eight concluded that they could not peacefully live together. There was also one annulment of a marriage in the county in 1929, while the 1930 report did not show any.

There were 60,330 marriages performed in Ohio during 1930, as compared with 65,679 in 1929, representing a decrease of 5,349 of 8.1 per cent.

Cuyahoga-co was listed as the county having the largest number of marriages, where 12,295 were performed in 1930 in comparison with 12,255 in 1929. Fairfield-co had 282 in 1930 and 314 in 1929; Fayette-co was among the few counties to increase having 187 in 1930 as compared to 162 the previous year; Franklin-co was also on the 'drop off' list, with 3,383 listed in 1930 and 3,680 in 1929; Hocking-co listed 168 in 1930 and 188 in 1929; Madison-co was lower with 152 in 1930 and 171 in the previous year and Ross-co showed very little variance in the two years, listing 261 in 1930 and 263 in 1929.

The number of marriages performed was reported by the clerk of the probate court of each county, and the number of divorces granted by the clerk of courts of each county.
